PRECISIONS

The Immutable Rule of Scenarios:
Teams cannot win on Turn 1!

Scenario Rules vs. Game Rules?
Any unique scenario rules supersede the game's original rules!

Set up each scenario as follows. See Quick Setup on Rulebook p.2.

Terrain Tiles: Place these tiles as shown on the scenario's map.

Composition: Give the American and German players the recruitment tiles and options shown.

- Some scenarios provide army points and allow players to build custom armies. See Rulebook p.5.

Battlefield and Deployment Zones: Place terrain overlays, objectives, bonus tactics, and any other tokens as shown on the map. Each team deploys units in the squares marked as deployment zones.

Action Cards: Give all American action cards to the American player and all German action cards to the German player. Then, search each deck for the cards listed here and remove those cards from the decks. Shuffle the other cards to form each player's deck.

Useless Action Cards?
If an action card cannot be used in a scenario, then discard that card when drawn, and immediately draw a new card.

For example, the card Surprise! allows a unit to enter a building through an opening. This card is useless in a scenario with no buildings, so replace it when drawn. However, if a scenario's buildings have all been destroyed, then you could have played the card at some point, so do not replace the card.

First Initiative: Place the Initiative Marker on Turn 1 with the American or German side up. In some scenarios, the players randomly decide which player has initiative on Turn 1.

Turn Counter: Place event markers and the End Marker as shown on the scenario's Turn Counter.

Setup: The player with initiative always deploys all units first. Read this text for any unique rules that supersede the game's usual setup rules.

Gameplay: Scenario text describes what occurs during the battle's events, as well as any other unique scenario rules.

Goals and Victory: This describes how one team wins the battle. Some scenarios can end in a draw.

Victory! Check all goals during the Victory Conditions step of the Supply Phase—including control of objectives and bonus tactics! See Rulebook p.6.

Control! An objective or bonus tactics is controlled if one team—and only that team—has a unit adjacent to it! See Rulebook p.15.

Disarray! If a team cannot give an order during the Activation Phase, because it has no order tokens or units, it cannot win the battle!

Team-specific Objectives! Any team can take control of a common objective. Only one team can take control of a team-specific objective—the team shown on the objective! Enemy units can still prevent control of a team-specific objective by placing a unit adjacent to it!

Godsend

Terrain Tiles: C1-B, C2-B

William, a guy from Brooklyn, strolls through the Normandy countryside with a reconnaissance unit from the 4th infantry. As the troop emerges from a small grove, William spies movement a little farther afield. He points to a descending parachute and the spy hanging lifelessly from it.

Wilhelm, a guy from Munich, is driving the Panzer Lehr with his buddies. He spots the Americans downfield, along with the descending body.

When a bunch of average guys bump into each other at the end of a long day, they'd normally meet for a few beers and a bar brawl. This time, they'd prefer to trade blows over the spy's briefcase, which must contain something ultra-mega-top secret...

Army Composition and Battlefield

Action Cards: Remove the following cards: Weak Point, Precision, Panzerfaust, Bogged Down, It Bounced Right Off It, Hit and Run, Ram, Booby-trapped (German deck only), Make It or Break It! (American deck only), Repairs, Surprise, all Airstrikes and Artillery

First Initiative: Determine randomly (Randomly place the Initiative Marker with either side up)

Setup: Deploy units normally. (The player with initiative deploys all units in that team's deployment zone. Then, the opponent deploys all units in the other deployment zone.)

Place five damage markers on the map as shown, each on an intersection between four squares.

Units with Scout 3 can deploy up to 3 squares from the deployment zone!

Turn 2—End of Supply Phase: The parachute touches down! Roll a die. Place a Primary Objective on the intersection matching the die roll's damage marker, then remove all damage markers from the map.

Turn 3—Beginning of Supply Phase: Reinforcements arrive! The Americans deploy a Halftrack M3A1, and the Germans deploy an SDKFZ 251/1, each in the teams' own deployment zone. The player with initiative deploys first. This vehicle may move during this Supply Phase.

At the end of an infantry's movement, it may enter an adjacent Transport! Transported units may receive order tokens and fire from the Transport! See Rulebook p.18.

Briefcase: An infantry unit may pick up the briefcase (the objective) when it ends its movement on an adjacent square. If that unit is destroyed, it drops the briefcase on any adjacent intersection.

Vehicles cannot pick up the briefcase, but they can transport an infantry carrying the briefcase.

Goals: Move a unit off the far edge of the map (containing that team's deployment zone) while carrying the briefcase.

- Victory: Either team takes the briefcase off of the map.
- Draw: Neither team achieves victory before the battle ends on Turn 6. The documents are destroyed by the rain.

Saving Private ~~Ryan~~ Rex !

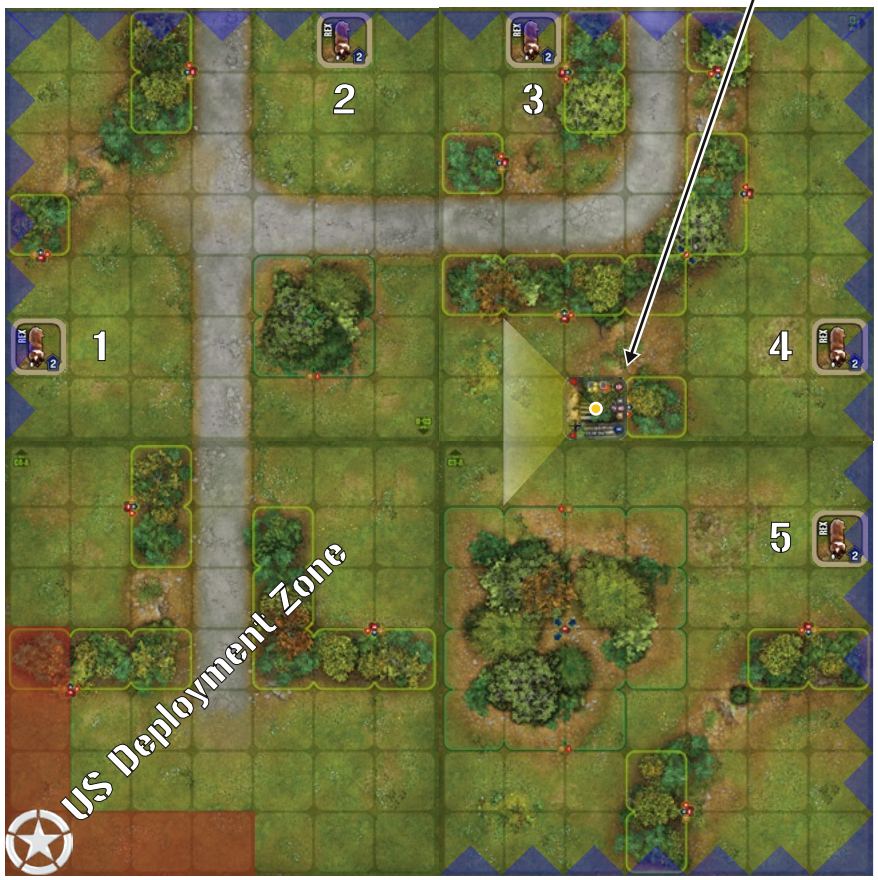

Terrain Tiles: C2-B, C3-A, C4-A, C5-B

General Raymond O. Barton's dog, Rex, decided that he was fed up with the slop in the officers' mess tent and run from camp. A small force of "officially appointed volunteers" has been sent to retrieve the AWOL canine. Problem is, that damned mutt's trail leads toward German lines...

Army Composition and Battlefield

Action Cards: Remove the following cards: Weak Point, Precision, Bogged Down, It Bounced Right Off It, Hit and Run, Ram, Don't Stop!, Repairs, Surprise, Booby-trapped (German deck only), Geballte Ladung (German deck only), Panzerfaust (American deck only), all Airstrikes and Artillery

First Initiative: Americans (Initiative Marker starts American side up)

Setup: Units may not use the Scout ability. (All units must be deployed in a deployment zone.)

The German player places all units off of the map. Deploy an MG Nest where shown on the map.

German Patrol: Units off of the map cannot fire and cannot move during the Supply Phase.

To enter the map, place an order token on a unit and give it a movement order. Moving onto the map, where marked by blue triangles, counts as 1 square of movement. On its order number, a unit may move 0 squares and remain off the map.

Turn 2—End of Supply Phase: Rex appears! Roll a die. If the roll is 6, then Rex appears at the end of the next Supply Phase. Otherwise, deploy Rex at the square on the map matching the roll.

Rex cannot be targeted or hit in any way.

Turn 3—End of Supply Phase: The dogcatcher's van arrives! Deploy the Willys .50 Cal in the American deployment zone.

Random Movement: Rex moves immediately when deployed. Place a blast pattern on Rex's square, then roll a die.

1-4: Rex moves in the direction matching the blast's dispersion direction. Roll another die and move Rex that many squares in a straight line.
5-6: Rex doesn't move.

- Rex ignores difficult passage and impassable terrain symbols.
- Rex cannot move through German vehicles or off map edges. (He stops moving.)
- If Rex enters an American unit's square (including the Willys .50 Cal), he attaches to the unit, moving wherever it moves.
- Rex can pass through or stop on German infantry, but he detests the Germans' smell and won't follow them.

Beginning of Each Supply Phase: If Rex doesn't have an order token, then he moves randomly again.

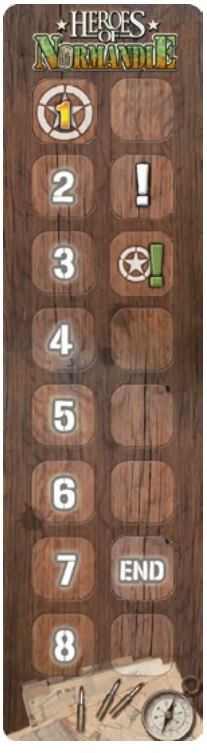

Each Order Phase: Here, boy! If an American unit is within 4 squares of Rex, then the American player may place an order token on Rex. On that order number, roll a die, and move Rex that many squares toward the closest American unit.

Loud Noises: If a German unit within 4 squares of Rex fires a shot, the American player rolls a die and moves Rex that many squares, moving as far as possible away from the unit that took the shot. If an American unit within 4 squares fires a shot, then the German player rolls and moves Rex.

- If Rex is attached to the unit that fires, place a blast pattern and roll a die to determine Rex's direction. The German player then rolls to determine Rex's distance.
- Rex doesn't react to assaults.

American Goals: Lead Rex off the map from any square in the American deployment zone.

- American Total Victory: Rex leaves the map, and the Americans score at least 8 victory points.
- American Minor Victory: Rex leaves the map.
- Draw: Rex leaves, but the Germans score at least 10 victory points.
- German Minor Victory: Rex doesn't leave before the battle ends on Turn 7.
- German Total Victory: Rex doesn't leave before the battle ends on Turn 7, and the Germans score at least 10 victory points.

Plain Carnage

Terrain Tiles: C3-A, C4-B

Why has High Command ordered us to hold this miniscule speck, way out in the middle of nowhere? No sane person could objectively respond to that question. They probably also couldn't explain why the German command issued the same order. Looks like the grunts will have to find the answer—by iron and fire!

Army Composition and Battlefield

Action Cards: Remove the following cards: Precision, Surprise, Booby-trapped (German deck only), all Airstrikes and Artillery

First Initiative: Determine randomly (Randomly place the Initiative Marker with either side up)

Setup: Deploy units normally. (The player with initiative deploys all units in that team's deployment zone. Then, the opponent deploys all units in the other deployment zone.)

Plant the Flag: Vehicles cannot take control of the objective.

Goals: Use an infantry to take control of the objective. (An objective or bonus tactics is controlled if one army—and only that army—has a unit adjacent to it. See Rulebook p.15.)

- Victory: During the Supply Phase, either team controls the objective with an infantry.
- Draw: Neither team controls the objective before the battle ends onTurn 6.

Tips!

After Turn 1, either team can take control of the objective. Don't be caught sleeping if the enemy rushes the target!

The team with initiative moves first during the Supply Phase, followed by the opposing team. This could allow the opposing team to move and take control of the objective—without giving the other team a chance to respond!

A team cannot take control of an objective if the opposing team has a unit adjacent to it. Vehicles can't capture the objective in this scenario, but they can park on the objective to block control by the other team!

Vehicles can push infantry aside! See Vehicle Movement / Pass Through Infantry on Rulebook p.9.

Slaughterhouse (5)

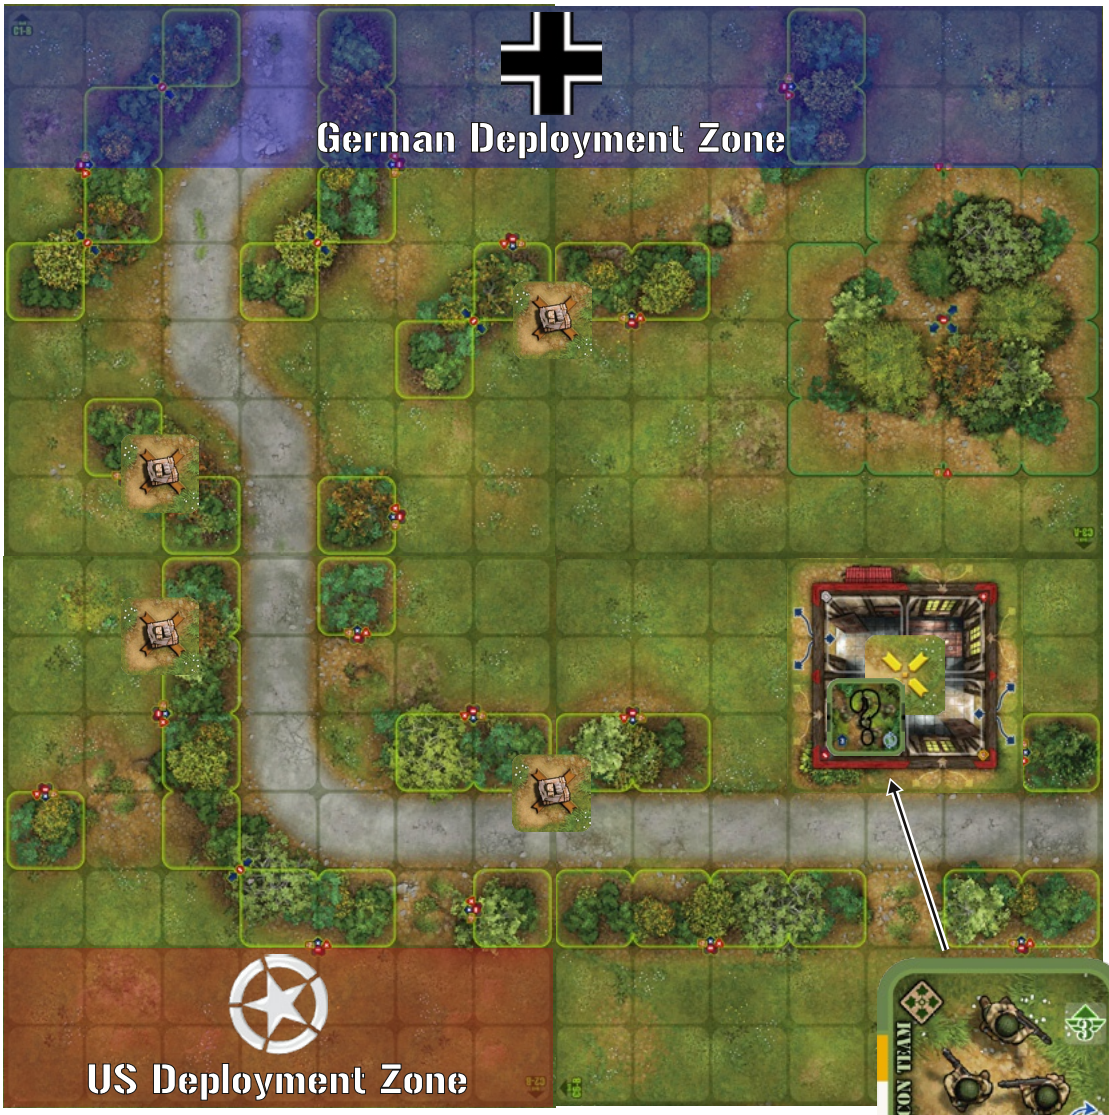

A point man from from the 4th Infantry Division has located a warm, comfortable cottage out in the country. It's a fine spot to make camp for the night. But as the point man turns down the beds, a German patrol arrives and inquires about vacancies...

Terrain Tiles: C1-B, C2-A, C3-A, C6-B

Army Composition and Battlefield

Action Cards: Americans remove the following cards: Weak Point, Precision, Ram, Panzerfaust, Bogged Down, all Airstrikes and Artillery

Germans remove the following cards: Hit and Run, It Bounced Right Off It, Repairs, Precision, Ram, Don't Stop!, all Airstrikes and Artillery

First Initiative: Americans (Initiative Marker starts American side up)

Setup: The Americans deploy first. Deploy the Recon Team in the building as shown, with the concealed side up.

Tough Ol' Barn: The building cannot be destroyed.

Don't look at bonus tactics tokens when placing them! See Bonus Tactics on Rulebook p.16.

Give each team the equipment tokens shown on their options! See Equipment on Rulebook p.18.

German Goals: Take control of the building. The Germans must have a unit inside, with no American units inside.

- German Victory: The Germans control the house during any Supply Phase.
- Draw: No units are in the house when the battle ends on Turn 6.
- American Victory: An American unit remains in the house when the battle ends on Turn 6.

My Heart Goes Boom!

Terrain Tiles: C1-B, C2-B, C3-A, C4-A, C5-B, C6-B

The 4th Infantry Division has orders to plant explosives on a German headquarters. Enemy fire forced the platoon to split up, with one team detouring west and the other team escaping east. Both teams have reached the HQ, but one team now stares dumbfounded at a detonator with nothing to detonate, while the other team wonders how to safely ignite dynamite without a detonator. If the two teams meet at the target, then perhaps the Germans will graciously allow them to reconnect the wiring?

Action Cards: Remove the following cards: Speed Setup (American deck only), all Airstrikes and Artillery

First Initiative: Germans (Initiative Marker starts German side up)

Setup: The Germans deploy first.

The Americans deploy Clint, the Greyhound, and the Bazooka Squad in the west deployment zone. One infantry in this group carries the dynamite.

Deploy all other American units in the east deployment zone. One infantry in this group carries the detonator.

Army Composition and Battlefield

West | West | West | East | East | East

German HQ: The building cannot be destroyed.

Dropped Explosives: If a unit is destroyed while carrying the dynamite or detonator, it drops the token on any adjacent intersection. An American infantry may pick up the item when it ends its movement on an adjacent square. Germans cannot pick up these tokens.

American Goals: Prepare the explosives by placing the detonator, dynamite, and an American infantry (or hero) inside the HQ. It doesn't matter if any German units are still inside the HQ!

- American Victory: Detonate the explosives during any Supply Phase (during the Victory Conditions step).
- German Victory: The HQ is still intact when the battle ends on Turn 6, or all American infantry are destroyed.

The Road to Death

Terrain Tiles: C1-B, C2-B, C6-B

The 4th Division's advanced guard has crossed paths with a line of Panzer Lehr armored units. The Allies have sent tanks to reinforce the guard, but the Germans are all over the countryside, hiding in the hedgerows with anti-tank weaponry. Still, the Allies must advance! The Americans must push their tanks as far ahead as possible to meet the advanced guard—preferably with fresh supplies!

Action Cards: Americans remove the following cards: Weak Point, Precision, Ram, Surprise!, Panzerfaust, Bogged Down, all Airstrikes and Artillery

Germans remove the following cards: Hit and Run, Ram, Make It or Break It, It Bounced Right Off It, Surprise!, Repairs, Precision, Booby-trapped, all Airstrikes and Artillery

First Initiative: Americans (Initiative Marker starts American side up)

Setup: Place bonus tactics in the squares shown (not at intersections).

The American player deploys all units off of the map.

Army Composition and Battlefield

Zone 3 Zone 2 Zone 2 Zone 1 Zone 1 Zone 2

The Germans deploy Hans Gruber and the Assault Group in Zone 1 as shown. The German player also places a one-square defensive position anywhere in Zone 1.

The Germans only begin with 2 order tokens and a bluff token! OB Hauser and the Panzerschreck Group add order tokens when deployed!

Turn 2—End of the Supply Phase: The Germans deploy Helmut, the Pak 40, the Panzergrenadiere, and a defensive position in Zone 2.

Turn 4—End of the Supply Phase: The Germans deploy the Panzerschreck Group and a defensive position in Zone 3.

American Convoy: Units off of the map cannot fire and cannot move during the Supply Phase.

To enter the map, place an order token on a unit and give it a movement order. Moving onto the map counts as 1 square of movement. On its order number, a unit may move 0 squares and remain off the map.

Bonus Tactics: When a American heavy vehicle enters a square with a bonus tactics, the vehicle immediately picks up the bonus tactics token. No other units can pick up these bonus tactics.

The American team may choose to not use any bonus tactics that it picks up.

Bonus Panzerfaust: The Germans begin play with one Panzerfaust token. If the Germans use this token, they regain it at the end of the Supply Phase. The Germans cannot have more than one of these tokens at once. See Panzerfaust on Rulebook p.18.

American Goals: The Americans must gather bonus tactics as supplies, then move a heavy vehicle out of the last tile to reinforce the guard.

To find the Americans' final score, count the number of bonus tactics collected and not used. Then, find the square on the map as shown where an American heavy vehicle moved off of the map. Multiply the unused bonus tactics by the multiplier in that square.

- American Total Victory: Bonuses X Multiplier = 10+
- American Major Victory: Bonuses X Multiplier = 5–9
- American Minor Victory: Bonuses X Multiplier = 1–4
- German Simple Victory: No heavy vehicles leave the map before the battle ends on Turn 7.
- German Total Victory: All American heavy vehicles are destroyed.

Out of Gas

Surrounded... and these blasted halftracks have run empty! The platoon has radioed for air support, but trucks don't run on bombs. Someone needs to grab a gas can and start hiking to the nearest petrol station!

Terrain Tiles: C1-B, C2-B, C3-A, C4-B, C5-A, C6-A

Army Composition and Battlefield

Action Cards: Remove the following cards: Precision (German deck only), all Airstrikes and Artillery

First Initiative: Germans

Setup: The Germans deploy all units, followed by the Americans. Deploy the two halftracks as shown. Place the gas token in the house as shown.

Shuffle the American Airstrike cards and place them face-down in a separate deck beside the Turn Counter.

Turn 1,3,5—Draw and Refill Cards: Air support arrives! After drawing and refilling cards, the American player draws an Airstrike card and adds it to hand. These cards count toward the American hand limit on following turns.

Gas: An American infantry may pick up the gas token when it ends movement in the token's square. If that unit is destroyed, it drops the gas in its square.

Halftracks: The halftracks cannot move, but they also cannot be targeted or hit. The halftracks may still receive order tokens and fire.

If an infantry with the gas token ends its movement adjacent to a halftrack, then the halftrack becomes fueled. It can now move—but it can also be targeted and hit!

American Goals: Move the halftracks off the map, from either of the red arrows leading away from the roads.

- American Major Victory: Move both halftracks off the map.
- American Minor Victory: Move one halftrack off the map.
- German Major Victory: No halftracks leave the map before the battle ends on Turn 8.

When you play an Airstrike card, your opponent rolls a die. If the roll ties or exceeds the Airstrike card's AAA number, then the aircraft is shot down—discard the card without effect! See Rulebook p.5.

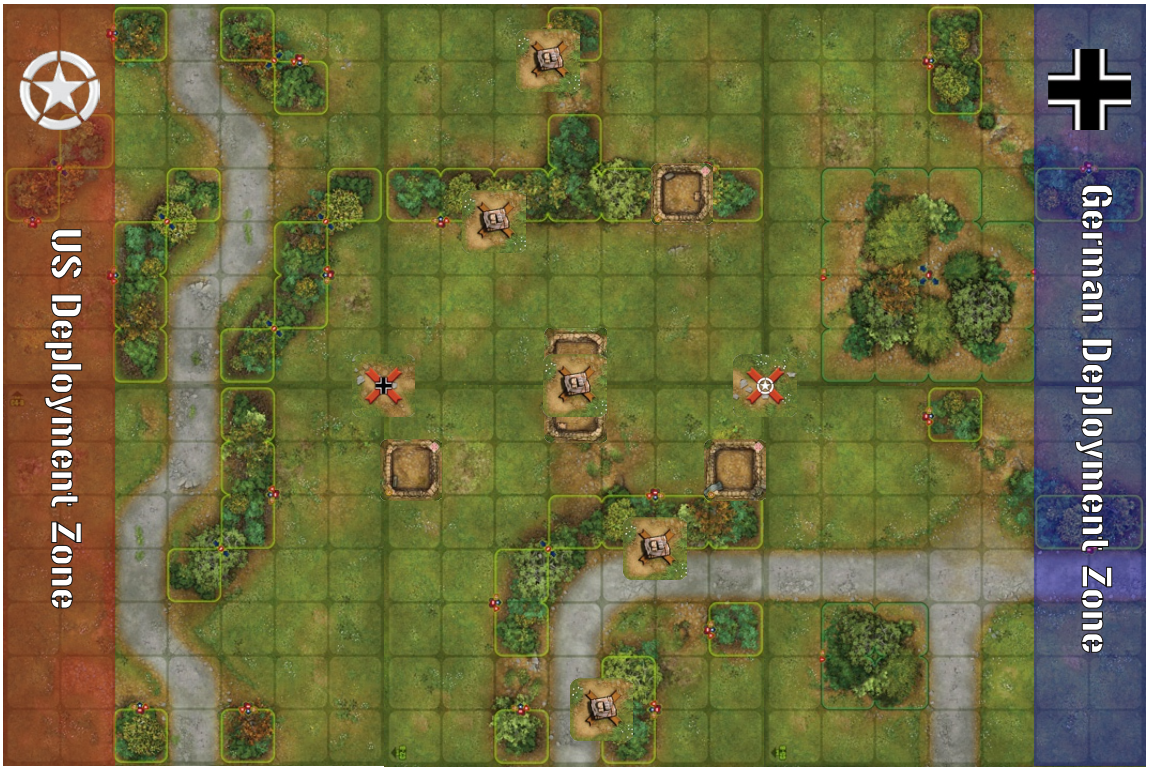

War, It's a Mess!

Terrain Tiles: C1-B, C2-B, C3-A, C4-B, C5-B, C6-B

France, Normandy, August 1944. The Allies engage the German army in fisticuffs, paying for each meter of advancement with dozens of lives. In the hell of the Norman hedgerows, it's difficult to know where you friends are or where the enemy is coming from. Units mixing together, divisions exploding... It's a mess!

Army Composition and Battlefield

Action Cards: Remove the following cards: Surprise!, Precision, Booby-trapped (German only), all Airstrikes and Artillery

First Initiative: Determine randomly

Setup: The player with initiative deploys first.

Shuffle all of the unused, square-shaped recruitment options. Without looking at these options, place:

- 1 American option and 1 German option under each bonus tactics
- 1 American option under the American Primary Objective
- 1 German option under the German Primary Objective

Bonus Options: When a team takes control of a bonus tactics or Primary Objective, it gains the recruitment option under the token (in addition to the bonus tactics). The Americans keep the American option and discard the German option, and vice versa for the Germans.

Do not place these options onto a recruitment tile. Immediately deploy the option's units in the team's deployment zone.

Goals: Score victory points by flipping enemy recruitment tiles and options. Primary Objectives do not provide victory points.

- Victory: Score the most victory points when the battle ends on Turn 8.

A recruitment tile or option reaches its breaking point when its destroyed units ties or exceeds its red boxes. Flip the tile or option over, and the opponent scores victory points as shown on the other side!
See Breaking Points on p.15.

The Best Defense Is a Good Offense!

Terrain Tiles: C1-B, C2-A, C3-A, C4-B, C5-A, C6-A

After searching for weeks, the Allies identify a breakthrough point in enemy lines. But the German command sees an opportunity to catch the Americans by surprise, scoring a decisive blow against the advancing troop. Will the Allies force the Germans to regroup at Paris? Will the Germans push the Americans back to the sea? The offensive is now!

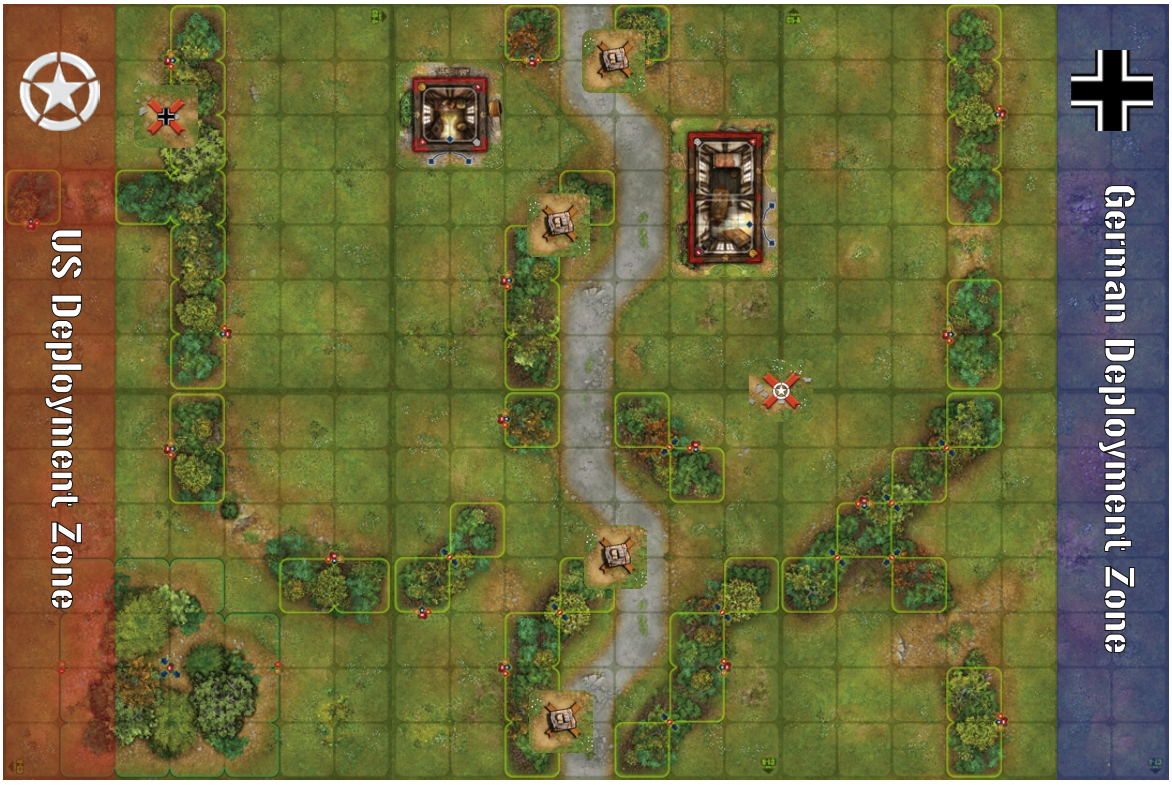

Army Composition and Battlefield: Each player builds an army with 500 army points. See Custom Armies on Rulebook p.5.

Then, the players divide their own teams into two parties. Each party must contain 200–300 army points' worth of units.

Place all units from one option or tile into the same party. Units from different options or tiles may split into different parties, including the units of different options on the same tile.

Action Cards: Remove the following cards: Precision, all Airstrikes and Artillery

First Initiative: Determine randomly

Setup: The player with initiative deploys first. Both teams deploy only one of their two parties.

Retreat: When one team takes control of the Primary Objective, the other team is forced to retreat. Reset the board as follows.

1. Pick up the tiles containing the advancing team's deployment zone.
2. If these tiles contained any of the advancing team's units, add those units to that team's second party.
3. If these tiles contained any of the retreating team's units, those units are captured and destroyed.
4. Place these tiles adjacent to the retreating team's deployment zone. The retreating player chooses the tiles' orientation.
5. Do not move any units on the other four tiles.
6. Remove the retreating team's objective from the map.
7. Place the advancing team's objective on an intersection
8. Move the advancing team's objective to the intersection between the four advance tiles.
9. Move the Initiative Marker to Turn 1 (instead of to the next turn). Flip the marker to change the player with initiative, as normal.

Reinforcements: After the retreat, deploy each army's second party off of the map. Units off of the map cannot fire and cannot move during the Supply Phase.

To enter the map, place an order token on a unit and give it a movement order. Moving onto the map counts as 1 square of movement. On its order number, a unit may move 0 squares and remain off the map.

Goals: Force the opponent to retreat, then retake the Primary Objective.

- Advancing Team Major Victory: The advancing team takes control of the objective twice.
- Advancing Team Minor Victory: The advancing team does not regain control of the objective before the battle ends on Turn 6.
- Draw: Neither team controls the Primary Objective before the battle ends on Turn 6 (before the retreat).

If you recruit an Airstrike or Artillery option, add those cards to your deck! See Orders on p.18.

Tempest of Fire

The battle has raged for several days. The Germans have resisted with everything they have, but the fighting has destroyed their radio communications, and the Panzer Lehr is now crippled and cornered in a hamlet. They have one last hope—salvage the battlefield for parts, repair the radio, send coordinates to the artillery, and blow the encirclement apart.

Terrain Tiles: C1-A, C2-B, C3-A, C4-B, C5-B, C6-B

Army Composition and Battlefield

Reinforcements Reinforcements

Action Cards: Remove the following cards: Precision (American only), all Airstrikes and Artillery

The Americans have an Airstrike order. That player removes all Airstrike cards, then shuffles 1 Airstrike card back into the deck!

First Initiative: Americans (Initiative Marker starts American side up)

Setup: The Americans deploy first, but do not deploy Clint or Lt. Stewart's Rifle Platoon tile.

Place three German vehicle wrecks and three radio part tokens as shown.

Shuffle the German Artillery cards and place them face-down in a separate deck beside the Turn Counter.

Clint and Lt. Stewart don't provide order tokens until deployed!

Radio Parts: A German unit may pick up the radio, micro, or antenna when it ends its movement adjacent to the token. If that unit is destroyed, it drops the token on any adjacent intersection. American units cannot pick up these tokens.

HQ: If the German HQ (Secondary Objective) is destroyed, the German player places the Secondary Objective on any intersection in the ruin.

Any Turn—Draw and Refill Cards: If all three radio parts are adjacent to the Secondary Objective, then the Germans radio for artillery support! After drawing and refilling cards, the German player draws an Artillery card and adds it to hand. These cards count toward the German hand limit on following turns.

Turn 4—End of the Supply Phase: American reinforcements arrive! The Americans deploy Clint and Lt. Stewart's tile in the American deployment zone.

American Goals: Take control of the Primary Objective.

- American Victory: The Americans control the Primary Objective during any Supply Phase.
- German Victory: The Americans do not control the Primary Objective before the battle ends on Turn 8.

CUSTOM SCENARIOS

Players may construct their own battles using these general guidelines.

1. Army Size
Choose a number of army points for each player.

2. Build Armies
Use army points to recruit recruitment tiles, recruitment options, and hero options. See Custom Armies on Rulebook p.5.

3. Action Card Decks
Each team's deck must contain at least 40 action cards. Players cannot add Airstrike or Artillery cards without the appropriate recruitment option. See Custom Decks on Rulebook p.5.

4. Map
Choose terrain tiles and overlays for the map. Distribute cover evenly for both teams.

5. Objectives and Bonus Tactics
Place objectives and bonus tactics at equal distance from both teams. Objectives in custom scenarios provide victory points when controlled.

6. Turn Counter
Place event markers on Turn 4 and Turn 6 of the Turn Counter. Place the End Marker on Turn 8. Randomly determine starting initiative.

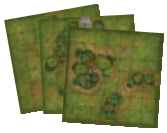

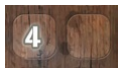

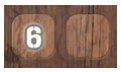

7. Victory Conditions
Choose a number of victory points required to win the battle early on Turn 4 or Turn 6.

A team can win a custom scenario early by earning enough victory points, either by destroying enemy units or controlling objectives. See Winning the Battle on Rulebook p.15.

If both teams control enough points to win early on the same turn, then the team with the most victory points wins. If the battle doesn't end early, then the player with the most victory points wins at the end of Turn 8.

8. Deployment
Choose each team's deployment zones and deploy units.

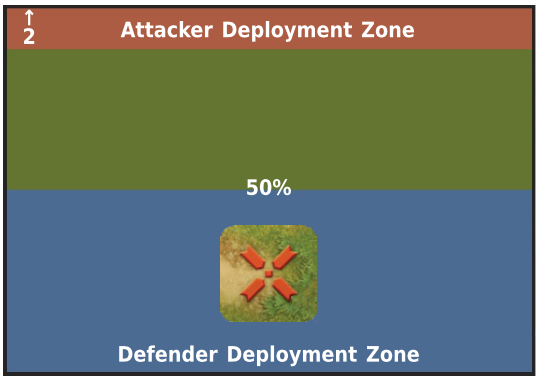

For an epic battle with large armies, choose an early victory condition for Turn 8. If no team reaches those points on Turn 8, then keep on fighting!

Example Custom Maps

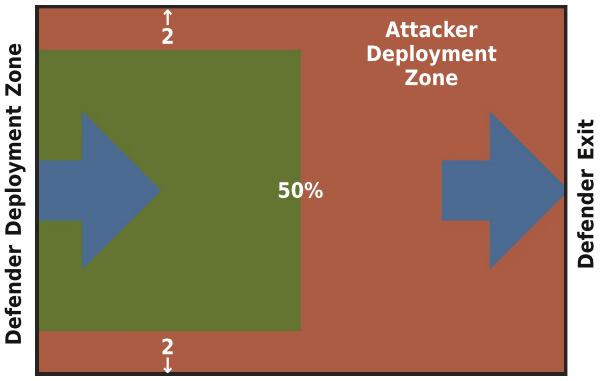

Standard Deployment (Two rows each side): No modifiers.

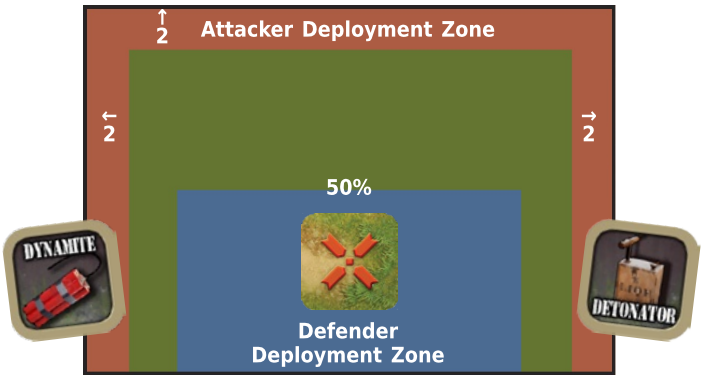

Base Defense (Two rows vs 50%): Place one Primary Objective in the defender's deployment zone.

- Victory for Attacker: Attacker takes control of the Primary Objective during any Supply Phase.
- Victory for Defender: Battle ends on Turn 8.

Ambush (One side to the other): The defender deploys off of the map, using a movement order to move units onto the map.

- Defender Major Victory: Move 50% or more of the defender's units off of the map before the battle ends on Turn 8.
- Defender Minor Victory: Move 25% or more of the defender's units off of the map.
- Attacker Minor Victory: Move fewer than 25% of the defender's units off of the map.
- Attacker Major Victory: No defending troops escape.

Destruction (Outside border): Place an additional building or defensive position with a Primary Objective inside. This building cannot be destroyed.

- During setup, place the dynamite and detonator tokens on any attacking infantry. At the beginning or end of any movement, an infantry may place a token onto the structure, but you cannot place both tokens on the same turn.

- Attacker Victory: The dynamite and detonator tokens are on the overlay during any Supply Phase.
- Defender Victory: The objective is still intact when the battle ends on Turn 8.

Breakthrough (Middle border): Place a Primary Objective on the edge of the map opposite the attacker's deployment zone.

- Attacker Victory: Attacker takes control of the Primary Objective during any Supply Phase.
- Defender Victory: Battle ends on Turn 8.

Optional—Prepared Defense! The defending or ambushing team places all terrain overlays in that team's deployment zone but only recruits with 75% army points (or 50% for a more difficult defense).

SCENARIOS FOR 3–4 PLAYERS

The unit stripes of Heroes of Normandie's army boxes are different from the core units' stripes. With these expansions, you can modify scenarios or create custom scenarios with multiple players fighting for the same side of the war.

Alliances: All scenarios are fought between two armies. Additional players form an alliance. Each alliance may include different allied armies, such as the Commonwealth and the Americans.

Army Creation: Divide army points evenly among teams in the alliance. For example, a 500–pt. alliance could support two 250–pt. teams.

Action Cards: All teams in an alliance draw from the same deck. Choose the action card deck of any team in the alliance.

- Player hand size is based on the number of teams in the alliance. (Players draw 4 cards each during a 1v1 battle.)

  1 Team: 6 cards
  2 Teams: 3 cards each
  3 Teams: 2 cards each

- Allies may show their hands to each other. Cards that affect a team's units do not affect the units of other teams in the alliance.

High Command: An alliance of 500 total army points or more may have one (and only one) high command tile. Options on a high command tile affect the entire alliance.

- Any team may pay army points to recruit a high command tile and its recruitment options, including splitting the costs between teams in the alliance.

- An alliance's high command tile and action card deck must come from the same team. Recruitment options must match the stripes of an option slot, so a Commonwealth option will not fit onto an American field command tile.

- For options with tokens or other limited uses, one team may be unable to use an option while the other team uses it, but any tokens placed onto the map (such as Concealed tokens) should match the team using them. At the end of the Supply Phase, alliances decide which team gains the bonuses of these options.

Initiative and Order of Play: The Initiative Marker shows which alliance has initiative. In addition, at the beginning of each Orders Phase, each alliance must decide the order of initiative within the alliance.

Initiative Order

2v2, when 1st alliance has initiative:
1st: 1st alliance, 1st team
2nd: 2nd alliance, 1st team
3rd: 1st alliance, 2nd team
4th: 2nd alliance, 2nd team

2v1 (or 3v1), when solo team has initiative:
1st: Solo team
2nd: Alliance, 1st team
3rd: Solo team (Order Phase only)
4th: Alliance, 2nd team
5th: Solo team (Order Phase only)
6th: Alliance, 3rd team

2v1 (or 3v1), when alliance has initiative:
1st: Alliance, 1st team
2nd: Solo team
3rd: Alliance, 2nd team
4th: Solo team (Order Phase only)
5th: Alliance, 3rd team
6th: Solo team (Order Phase only)

Deployment: One player deploys all units first, followed by a player on the opposing alliance, in the initiative order described above.

Order Phase: An alliance shares one set of order tokens, so that only one unit in the alliance can act on any given order number. Place order tokens in the initiative order shown.

- Each alliance begins with 1 bluff token, which may be placed by any team in the alliance.

- Order token limits apply to the entire alliance (10 order tokens, 2 special orders, and 2 bluff tokens).

Activation Phase: Players activate units in the initiative order shown.

Special Abilities: Special abilities that affect friendly units, such as Transport or Barrage Order, may affect an ally's units.

Supply Phase: Move units in the initiative order shown. Each player moves all units before the next player moves units.

- Players fill their hands to 6, 3, or 2 cards.

- Sharing Cards: Before refilling hands, players may give their cards to other players in the alliance, provided that each player ends the turn with no more cards than the maximum hand size.

Movement: Units may pass through squares occupied by allied infantry units.

Victory Conditions: Use a scenario's normal victory conditions. The defeat of one member of an alliance does not necessarily end the battle or result in defeat.

Example

Three players create a custom 500–point battle, Americans & Commonwealth vs. Germans. The German player recruits 500 points. The Americans and Commonwealth each recruit 250 points.

The Allies recruit the American General Raymond O. Barton high command tile (10 pts), with the American Improvisation option (20 pts) and Bluff option (10 pts). The American player contributes 30 army points to this tile and its options, and the Commonwealth player contributes the other 10 points.

With an American high command tile, the Allies must share the American action card deck.

At the beginning of the first Order Phase, the Allies have initiative, and they choose to give the Commonwealth initiative before the Americans.

The Commonwealth deploys all of its units, followed by the Germans' units, followed by the Americans' units.

The Commonwealth places the first order token, then the Germans, then the Americans, then the Germans again.

The Allies decide that the Americans will use the Improvisation option, so only the American may draw an extra card with that option. Either player may choose to place the Bluff option's additional bluff token.
