1 - SCENARIO RULES

Pick a scenario to play from either one of the scenarios presented in this booklet, a published scenario sheet, or perhaps from among the PDFs presented on our website. You could instead try your hand at creating your own mission using the Free Battle Mode (see p.05), where you assemble your forces by spending army points agreed upon by all players participating. There are many options available. Do note that if a scenario has a rule that contradicts the general rules or the rules in this chapter, those scenario-specific rules take precedence. Such rules are designed specifically for that scenario.

ACTION CARDS

- Your deck is composed of Action Cards that belong to your faction.
- Each player draws a full hand, up to the maximum hand size indicated in the scenario.
- You may never have more Action Cards in hand than your maximum hand size.
- Unless otherwise indicated, the maximum hand size is 4 Action Cards .

DEPLOYMENT

Once Initiative has been determined (as indicated by the scenario or by any other means of your choice), deploy your troops in the zones indicated by the scenario.

- Unless the scenario says otherwise, the player who has the Initiative deploys all of his troops first. Deploy Infantry Units with the name printed in white visible. If the name is printed in white on both sides, you may deploy the unit with either face up. We recommend you do not deploy vehicles Wrecked Side up!!!
- If an army must deploy off the map, all its troops enter on the first turn during the Activation Phase (with an Order Token) or the Supply Phase.
- Units with the Scout Special Ability can use it when entering from the board side indicated by the scenario.

WARNING: Orders provided by units deployed off the map are available on the first turn.

PICKING UP OBJECTS

There are two kinds of objects, heavy and light.
The scenario will indicate which kind of object is present.

- In order to pick up a light object, a unit only needs to move through the square where the object rests, or an adjacent square if the object is on an Interspace. The unit does not need to stop.
- In order to pick up a heavy object, the unit needs to stop in the square where the object rests or an adjacent square if the object is on an Interspace.
  Any enemy units in adjacent squares will prevent you from picking up a heavy object.
- You may drop a light object or a heavy object at any time during a Movement Action.

VICTORY CONDITIONS

A game lasts a set number of turns as indicated by the scenario.

IMPORTANT: When a scenario's victory conditions are met, or a player has no more Order Tokens to put on his units, the game stops at the end of the current turn. Needless to say, a player who has no more units has lost the game!

In order to win, a player needs to meet the conditions indicated in the scenario or, in the case of a customized scenario, score a number of victory points (which are set at the start).

These victory points are won by controlling objectives (Primary or Secondary, see below) and by inflicting losses (see BREAKING POINT, p.04).

ABSOLUTE RULE OF SCENARIOS:

It is not possible to win on the first turn.

1.1 - OBJECTIVES

Each Objective marker earns you victory points or validates a special condition of the scenario. In order to control objectives, you need to be the only player who has at least one Infantry Units in one of the 4 adjacent squares or in the Terrain Element (building, craters, etc.) at the end of a Supply Phase.

IMPORTANT: If your opponent also has a unit in one of those squares, the objective remains neutral.

PRIMARY OBJECTIVES

If the marker displays a faction's symbol, it means only one of the two armies can benefit from controlling the objective. Units of the opposing army can still prevent an enemy unit from controlling the objective by merely being present in one of the adjacent squares or in the Terrain Element where the objective is placed. Once the objective is controlled, leave the marker on the board and turn it over onto its 'controlled' side (with the symbol of its faction displayed). It shows the objective has been met, but can still be taken back by the enemy.

If the marker is neutral, whichever army controls it benefits from it. Temporarily replace it with an Objective marker that displays the symbol of that army. You will replace it again if control changes sides.

SECONDARY OBJECTIVES

When a player takes control of a secondary objective, remove it from the board and put it next to the player's Recruitment Tiles. Depending on the scenario, the player then scores points or reaches a particular stage in the operation.

TACTICAL OBJECTIVES

These are controlled in the same way as the secondary objectives.

INITIATIVE x1 (Consumable)
Spend it to keep the Initiative this turn. Flip the Initiative counter to your army side. On your opponent's next turn, he will regain the Initiative.

STRATEGIST x1 (Consumable)
Spend it to get a Special Order Token this turn. You may not have more than 2 Special Order Tokens per turn.

SUPPLY x1 (Consumable)
Spend it to take 3 spent Gear markers and place them back on their Option tile. These markers don't have to be of the same type.

ASSET x2 (Consumable)
Spend it to immediately replenish your hand of cards.

INTUITIVE x1 (Permanent)
+1 Action Card to your hand total.

TACTICIAN x3 (Permanent)
+1 Numbered Order Token.

EXPLOSION x1 (Immediate)
"Oh no... it looks like it's going to blow up... and you with it!" The unit that reveals this "Bonus" suffers a grenade hit, as well as all units in squares adjacent to the tactical bonus.

EMPTY x1 (Immediate)
"Bad luck again, at least this one won't blow your legs off..." This Bonus brings nothing.

TURN CHART MARKERS

There are special markers to put on the turn chart. They indicate on which turn an event or a specific condition must take place. The Initiative marker indicates which player has the Initiative. It is moved one square down to count the turns and flipped over if Initiative changes for that turn.

The game ends when the final turn is completed.

Initiative marker

German Army specific event marker as per the scenario

Scenario event marker for both armies as per the scenario

American Army specific event marker as per the scenario

This marker indicates the end of the game. Place it beside the turn number indicated by the scenario

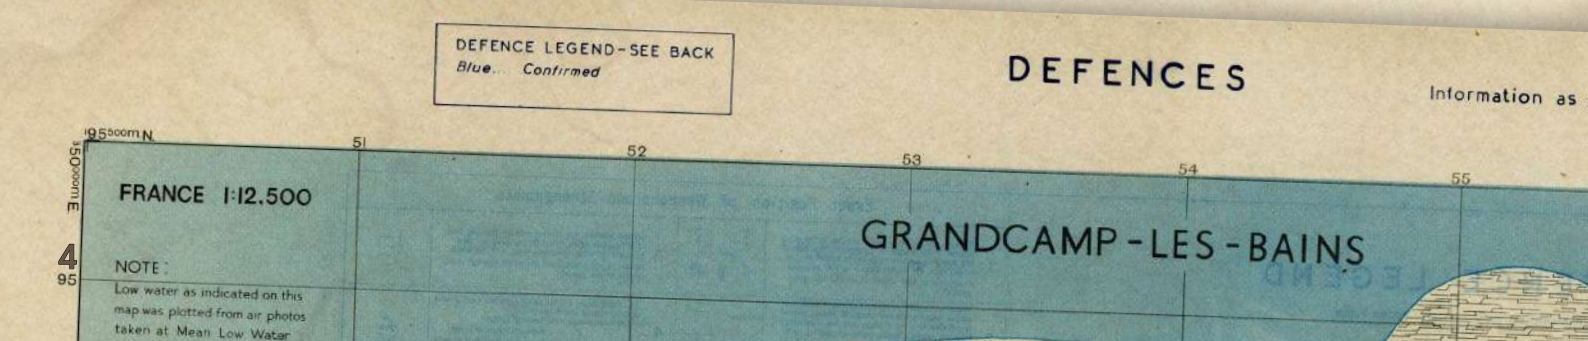

CREATING ARMIES

You can create your own armies by spending a set number of army points. The cost for each tile is printed on the tile 70 .

Purchasing Recruitment Tiles

Start by purchasing as many Recruitment Tiles as you want with your available points. They are the key to everything, and you need at least one in order to deploy an army on the battlefield.

TIP: Do not spend all your points on Recruitment Tiles, as you'll want to save some for Recruitment Options.

A bit of history (optional rule)
Those of you who prefer a more historical order of battle can create their armies using the following restrictions:

- Start by selecting a Recruitment Tile or a Command Tile.
- If you want a second tile, at least one of its badges must be the same as one on the first tile you selected.
- If you want a third tile, at least one of its badges must match a badge on one of your first two tiles. And so on.

Recruitment tiles that have one of the neutral symbols for their particular faction can be purchased after any other Recruitment Tile and so open up your recruitment to new options.

Purchasing Recruitment Options
A recruitment option needs to be valid in order to be purchased. Specifically:

- The selected option needs to be of appropriate size and exactly fit the slot on the tile.
- One or more of the colour stripes need to be the same as those around the slot.

Once you've spent all of your army points, take all of the corresponding unit counters and put any required Recruitment Option markers on their tiles.

BREAKING POINT

When a unit is Destroyed, put its counter under the corresponding Recruitment Tile or Recruitment Option. If such a unit was provided both by a Recruitment Tile and one of its options, put it under the option first. If the unit is present on several options, you can assign it to the option of your choice.

Then check whether the Recruitment Option or the Recruitment Tile is 'broken', i.e. whether it has reached its Breaking Point.

A Recruitment Tile or Recruitment Option's breaking point is represented by small red squares. When the number of Destroyed units is equal to the number of red squares, the breaking point of the Recruitment Tile or Option has been reached.

If it has broken, turn over the Recruitment Option counter or the Recruitment Tile.

When a Recruitment Tile breaks, attached options are not turned over unless they have also reached their breaking point. Once turned over, any special bonus given by the Recruitment Tile or Option is lost. Units and Recruitment Options such as gear, character traits, and orders are not lost when a breaking point is reached.

The number of victory points (if any) your opponent scores once the breaking point is reached is printed on the back of the game piece.

↑ Both the Recruitment Tile and its option provide Fire Groups*. Place the current Destroyed* Fire Group under the Recruitment Option which now reaches its breaking point*.*

The option tile is flipped *to its back, the Order (Special Ability) granted by the option* is no longer available and the opponent scores 5 victory points*.*

2 - FREE BATTLE MODE

If you choose to create your own scenarios, you need to build your army as well as design the battlefield. The chart on the next page will help guide you through this design process.

All Free-for-all battles are played over 8 turns, but may be won before that limit is reached.

ARMY POINTS

The chosen number of army points suggests how many terrain tiles to place and potential victory conditions. These values are only recommendations, so modify them as you prefer.

TIP: When playing a championship game, use 250 army points and a maximum of 4 Orders Tokens per army.

BATTLEFIELD SIZE

The size of the battlefield is the number of boards and terrain tiles available. Assemble the board and split up the tiles as you wish. It is better if each side has the same amount of cover. If you do not use modifiers (see next page), deployment zones are on each side of the battlefield and are two squares deep.

NUMBER AND VALUE OF OBJECTIVES

The number of Objectives and Objective's value depends on the size of the battle. Place them within equal distance of either army's deployment zone so that no player gets an advantage.

Place the Primary Objectives on their dark side.

Secondary Objectives can be neutral or specific to each army.

NUMBER OF VICTORY POINTS TURNS ON 4 & 6

These indicate the number of victory points required to win the game on turn 4 or turn 6.

If both players have exceeded this number on either turn, the player with the highest score wins.

If this condition is not met, the game continues. You may choose to disregard this rule and battle it out until the end of turn 8.

These victory points are won by controlling primary and secondary objectives and by inflicting losses.

GO!

Once you've defined all these elements, it is time to build your army. Prepare the turn chart with Event markers on turns 4 and 6 as a reminder to check the victory conditions, as well as the END marker on turn 8.

Determine the Initiative and put that marker on its appropriate side in square 1 of the turn chart.

Draw 4 Action Cards and launch hostilities!

If no player has won the game at the end of turn 4 or turn 6, the player who scored the most victory points at the end of turn 8 wins.

SETUPS AND MODIFIERS

The following examples are designed for a 250-point and 6-gameboard battle. Terrain tiles have been positioned over deployment zones for optimal visibility, but they are part of them. Feel free to change the configurations. If you are going for a smaller game, adjust the deployment zones accordingly.

- ATTACK/DEFENSE

One of the two armies is defending, the other is attacking.

There is a single objective, with the army badge of the attacker, and you place it in the defenders's deployment zone.

The defender gets 75% of his total available army points but takes as many Terrain Elements as indicated in the Battlefield column and places them in his deployment zone.

The game ends when the attacker has taken control of the objective (attacker's victory) or at the end of turn 8 (defender's victory).

To make it more difficult for the defender:
The defender gets 50% of his total army points but still takes all of the terrain tiles as indicated in the Battlefield column and places them in his deployment zone.

- AMBUSH

One of the two armies is defending, the other is attacking.

The attacker gets 50% of his total available army points.

The game ends when the defender moves his last unit off the board through the side indicated by the arrows, or at the end of turn 8.

To make it more difficult for the defender:
The attacker gets 75% of his total army points.

- Major victory for the defender: If over 50% of his troops escaped.
- Minor victory for the defender: If only 25% of his troops escaped.

- Major victory for the attacker: If none of the defender's troops escaped by the end of turn 8.
- Minor victory for the attacker: If less than 25% of the defender's troops were able to escape.

- PUNCHING THROUGH

One of the two armies is defending, the other is attacking.

There is a single objective, There is a single objective, with the army badge of the attacker, and you place it as far as possible from where the attacker enters, on the opposite side of the board.

The defender gets 75% of his total available army points but takes all of the terrain tiles as indicated in the Battlefield column and places them in his deployment zone.

The game ends when the attacker has taken control of the objective (attacker's victory) or at the end of turn 8 (defender's victory).

To make it more difficult for the defender:
The defender gets 50% of his army points but takes all of the terrain tiles as indicated in the Battlefield column and places them in his deployment zone.

- CONFRONTATION

The simplest scenario. Two armies clash...

2 - MULTI-PLAYER GAMES

3 OR 4 PLAYERS

In this type of game, players can be part of an alliance (i.e., a group of several players). The game is played as normal, except for the following changes:

VICTORY CONDITIONS

The game does not end when a player in an alliance is eliminated, and the alliance is not disbanded.

ARMY CREATION

After setting the number of army points per alliance, each player must select at least one Recruitment Tile that provides at least one unit.

WARNING: The number of army points for each alliance must be divided evenly between all members of that alliance.

RECRUITING A HIGH COMMAND TILE

The alliance can purchase a single High Command Tile (Recruitment Tiles that have no units but only squares for Recruitment Options). The total cost of this High Command Tile and its selected options is split between all the players in the alliance any way they want, shares need not be equal. The Recruitment Options of the High Command Tile may be used by all of the alliance's players.

Regarding recruitment options that involve markers and tokens (such as Battle Plan), put markers on them from all the armies in the alliance.

WARNING: This does not allow more than the standard number of tokens or markers to be used, it just allows each player a matching token for their faction.

Example:

- Battle Plan gives you a Special Order Token, so each alliance player puts a Special Order Token on the Battle Battle Plan Orders option. If an Alliance player then draws the High Command Action Card that lets him use a Special Order Token for the turn, he can take it off the Battle Plan so he can use it, and return it to the Battle Plan so he can use THAT option at some point later in the game. In other words, he can "take it back" because of the Action Card's effect.

- The Americans with their (either FFI or British) allies acquire the Planning Orders option. 1 Order Token is given to the alliance (not 1 per player), so each player puts an Order Token of his colour on the Recruitment Option. Each turn, the players in the alliance determine which of them will get to use the Order Token for that turn, but the token should be returned to the Recruitment Option at the end of the Supply Phase. If another player in the alliance needs an Order Token after a Tactician Action Card has been played, he may take the appropriate token even if it is his tenth token, as long as there are never more than 10 Order Tokens per alliance.

Recruitment Options related to the High Command Tile must still heed the colour stripes on the edge of the option's slot. Therefore, recruitment options provided by an allied army from a different nation may NOT be placed in the High Command Tile slots since the colour stripes will not match.

ACTION CARDS

When there is a High Command Tile, the deck must belong to the same faction as that tile. When there isn't a High Command Tile, players who belong to the alliance must choose the deck they will play. One of the players in the alliance must belong to this faction. The number of Action Cards that you draw in the Supply Phase depends on the number of players in the alliance:

1 player: 6 cards .

2 players: 3 cards each .

---

3 players: 2 cards each .

- Allied players may show each other their Action Cards .
- During the Supply Phase only, players can move Action Cards from one player to the other.
- The players can target the enemy with their Action Cards , but cannot target an allied unit. Any army wide bonuses (such as Fury of the Führer) thus only affect the forces of the one who played the Action Card.

INITIATIVE AND ORDER OF GAME

During game preparation and at the beginning of each Order Phase, allies must decide in what order they will play. Use appropriate markers to indicate this order on the turn track.

DEPLOYMENT

Each player deploys in order of Initiative and in playing order within the alliance. The first player in the alliance that has the Initiative must deploy, then the first player of the other alliance, then it's on to the second player in the alliance that has the Initiative...

ACTIVATION PHASE

In the Activation Phase, players activate their units in the previously determined order and alternating with the opposing alliance. A unit may not attack an allied unit (including assault and fire).

MOVEMENT

A player's units may move through squares occupied by allied Infantry Units. Usual movement rules apply.

SUPPLY PHASE

Players move their unactivated units in the previously determined order.

RECRUITMENT OPTIONS

Recruitment options that concern nearby units are applied to both owned units and allied units, provided the allied player accepts. The Initiative Orders option enables the alliance who owns it to keep the Initiative.

SPECIAL ABILITIES

Any Special Ability that affects one's own units (such as Transport) also affects allied units, provided the allied player accepts. Similarly, any Special Ability requiring the presence of or the LoS from one's units (such as Substitute or Artillery Spotter) can call on an allied unit, provided the owner accepts.

2 VS 1 AND 3 VS 1 PLAYER GAME

The amount of Numbered, Special, and Bluff Order Tokens is respectively restricted to 10, 2, and 2 per ALLIANCE, which means there is only one Bluff Order Token per alliance that has no appropriate recruitment option. The single player is subject to the same restrictions as in a 1 vs 1 game.

When a game pits a single player against two or three, Initiative is handled a bit differently. The single player activates two units while his opponents activate one each, alternating one at a time.

- Single Player A has the Initiative, he activates Order 1; his first opponent, B, activates his, player A then activates his Order 2; his second opponent, C, activates his Order 1, and so on.
- During deployment, the single player deploys his whole army on his turn.

SCENARIO

PLAIN CARNAGE

Front: Normandy
Army: German / US
Date: June 7, 1944
Players: 2

INTRODUCTION

Why has High Command ordered us to hold this lousy speck way out in the middle of nowhere? No sane person could give a proper explanation. Sure enough, the enemy has come to crash our party. Are they here because of us? Nah! I bet their HQ is just as full of idiots! So it is left to the grunts to do the work, with lead and blood.

BATTLEFIELD SET UP AND DEPLOYMENT

❶ FIRE TEAM, ❷ SUPPORT TEAM, ❸ .30 CAL, ❹ BAZOOKA (AMBUSHED), ❺ LT. WILL, ❻ M5 STUART

❶ FIRE GROUP, ❷ RECON GROUP (AMBUSHED), ❸ PANZERSCHRECK (AMBUSHED), ❹ OB. REITER, ❺ PANZER II

RECRUITMENT OF THE ARMIES

PREPARATION

Randomly determine the Initiative. and place the corresponding marker on space 1 of the turn chart.

Place 1 Secondary Objective.

Place 1 Tactical Bonus.

- Each player draws 3 Action Cards.

SOLO MODE

The AI can play either side.

- The game lasts for ❻ Turns.
- Starting with the player with the Initiative, each player deploys his units in his Deployment Zone.
- Apply the deployment shown above only if you want to follow the step-by-step explanations of the scenario.

VICTORY CONDITIONS

The goal for both players is to control the Secondary Objective. A player controls this objective if he is the only one to have an Infantry Unit in one of the 4 squares adjacent to the primary objective at the end of any Supply Phase.

- Mind your opponent's Supply Phase movement, especially if you have Initiative. Do not grant him the opportunity to simply move up and capture the Objective at the end of a Turn.
- Heavy vehicles can deny access to an objective if they are positioned on the adjacent squares.
- Do not hesitate to put your Heavy vehicles to good use in keeping the enemy at bay.

END The game ends when a player fulfills the victory condition. This game can end very quickly if one of the players isn't paying attention.

VICTORY: the player who controls the objective at the end of a Supply Phase wins. If nobody has won by the end of the turn 6, the match is a draw.

STEP BY STEP

Want to see a battle in action? We're going to guide you through the first two turns of the scenario to help you learn the basic principles of Heroes of Normandie.

Set up the terrain boards and place the Unit counters as shown in the setup diagram, and get ready for battle!

TURN 1 / 1 - Order Phase (Rulebook, p.07)

The American player has the initiative. He places his 3 Order Tokens along with his Bluff Order Token. Then the German player does the same.

TURN 1 / 2.1 - Activation Phase (Rulebook, p.09)

*The American player reveals his first Order Token and moves his Support Team forward 4 squares (cf. "Movement Actions,", p.09) with the help of an Action Card alternate bonus +1 (+1 square bonus to a Unit's Movement Value). He leaves his Order Token with the Unit.

TURN 1 / 2.2 - Activation Phase

The German player reveals his Order Token and moves his Fire Group 2 squares. He must stop since the Fire Group entered a Terrain Element with the Difficult Passage effect.

TURN 1 / 2.3 - Activation Phase

Taking turns, both players reveal and activate their other Order Tokens, in order, until they end up in the situation shown at the end of the Activation Phase. the American player moves his tank 5 squares, then uses the Fire On the Move Special Ability (Rulebook, p.24) of the Secondary Weapon. Fire On the Move allows him to take a Firing Action during his Movement Action.

He rolls a die, getting a result of , adds the Combat Value +3 which is reduced by 2 when using Fire On the Move , and by -1 because of the Terrain Element penalty—for a total of 5. The Fire Group Defense Value is 4, but they add a bonus of +1 thanks to the Terrain Element they're in. Since the total from the Firing Action is equal to the Defense Value, the Fire Group is Hit and gets flipped over.

TURN 1 / 3 - Supply Phase (Rulebook, p.16)

The American player discards his Bluff Token then moves all of the Units he didn't activate during the Activation Phase, flipping his .30 cal unit on its Active Side. The German player does the same. The American player draws an Action Card. The Initiative marker is moved one space down on the turn chart and is flipped over onto the German side.*

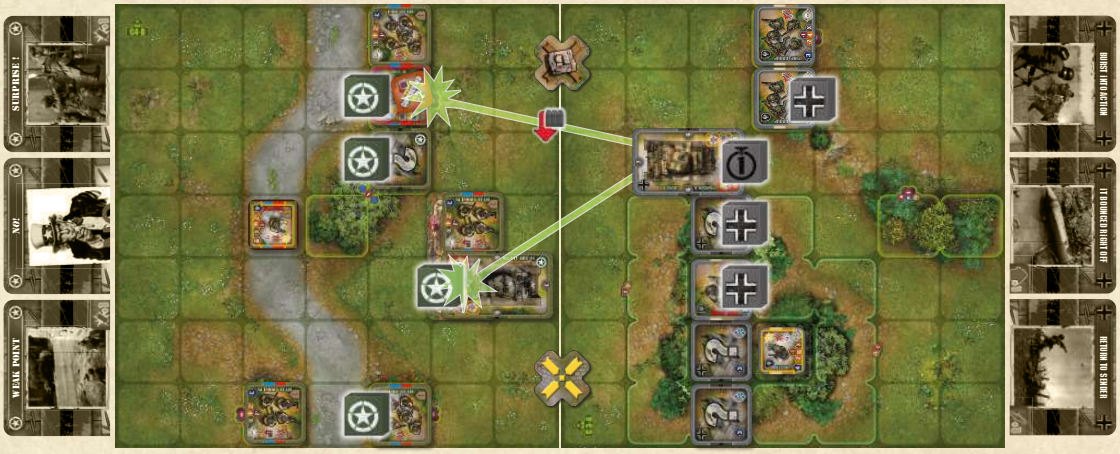

TURN 2 / 1 - Order Phase

The German player has the initiative. He places his 3 Order Tokens along with his Bluff Order Token. Then The American player does the same.

TURN 2 / 2.1 - Activation Phase

The German player reveals his Order Token ⓘ and takes two Firing Actions. One for the Primary, the other one for the Secondary Weapon. Targeting the .30 cal with his Panzer II, he takes a Suppressive Fire action. (see p.23). He doubles the Panzer II's Secondary Weapon Combat Value +4 and adds them to the die roll, getting a total of 11. Since the result is higher than the target's Defense Value (5 + +2 from the Terrain Element Defense Bonus), the target gets 1 Suppressed Marker. He takes a second Firing Action, targeting the M5 Stuart rear square, to take advantage of a lower Defense Value 6. He rolls a die, and fails...

TURN 2 / 2.2 - Activation Phase

The American player reveals his Order Token ⓘ. He reveals the Bazooka and takes a Firing Action, targeting the Panzer II. He plays his "Weak Point" Action Card to take advantage of the Panzer II lowest Defense Value 6. He rolls a die, and adds the Combat Value +3, for a total of 8.

As his result is higher than the Panzer II's front Defense Value, he rolls for location (see. p.15), getting a result of , adding 1 for the Piercing bonus. The German player plays the "It Bounces Right Off" Action Card, but his opponent cancels it by playing the "NO!" Action Card The Primary Weapon is destroyed and the Primary weapon Damage Marker 5 is placed on the Panzer II.

TURN 2 / 2.3 - Activation Phase

The German Panzerschreck takes a Firing Action, targeting the M5 Stuart. He succeeds and places a Hull 3-4 Damage Marker along with 2 Suppressed Marker.
The American Support Team benefits from the Opportunity Fire granted by the Defensive position, and takes a Firing Action targeting the Panzerschreck, but fails.
The Support Team reveives an Activated Markers.

TURN 2 / 2.4 - Activation Phase

The American player activates his Order Token 2 and takes a Suppressive Firing action targeting the Fire Group. Despite the .30 cal's Suppressed Marker the Firing Action is a succes, and the German Fire Group receives a Suppressed Marker. The German player activates his Order Token 3 and moves his Fire Group 3 spaces to control the objective.

He plays the "Burst Into Action" card to take a Firing Action without any penalty during the Fire Group's Movement Action, but fails. The American player activates his Order Token 3. His Fire Team engages the Fire Group into an Assault (see, p.25). The American player plays the "Surprise!" card for the alternate bonus , rolls 2 dice and takes the better result . He adds his Combat Value +2 and the +1 Alternate Bonus for a total of 8. The German player gets a lower result. The Fire Group takes a Hit and is Destroyed.

TURN 2 / 3 - Supply Phase

The German player discards his Bluff Order Token, then may move all of the Units he didn't activate during the Activation Phase. As he moves the Recon Groups outside a terrain element and in the enemy LoS, he must flip them onto their Inactive Side.

*Then the American player does the same. The two players discard one (and only one), Suppressed Marker per unit, and draw Action Cards (3 for the American player, 2 for the German player). Nobody controls the objective.

CHICKEN GAME

Front: Normandy
Army: German / US
Date: June 8, 1944
Players: 2

Legend tells that this game, which James Dean made famous in Rebel Without a Cause, finds its origins in the battle of Normandy. Two vehicles, a German and an American, would have faced each other on a narrow road, rushing towards each other at full speed. The story, because it is only a story, does not tell which of the two drivers turned its steering wheel first, which one was the "chicken"...

SOLO MODE

The AI can play either side.
It considers the exit squares as Primary Objectives.

RECRUITMENT OF THE ARMIES

1ST INFANTRY DIVISION - 185 POINTS

2 PANZER DIVISION - 190 POINTS

PREPARATION & CONDITIONS

Determine Initiative.

Place 2 Tactical Bonuses.

- Place the 2 Culin Hedgerow Cutter tokens.
- Each player draws 4 Action Cards.
- This game lasts 6 Turns.
- Each player sets aside 1 of his 2 halftracks.
- The player with the Initiative deploys his units first, placing his halftrack as shown in the setup. Units can be deployed in it.
- Then the other player does the same.

The goal for each player is to get his halftracks out of the game board through any square in his opponent's deployment zone.

! Each player brings his second halftrack into play at the square denoted by an arrow.

END The game ends at the end of a Supply Phase if at least one player has managed to exit 2 halftracks, or if there's no halftrack left in game, or at the end of Turn 6.

- MINOR VICTORY: for the player who gets out 1 halftrack more than his opponent.
- MAJOR VICTORY: for the player who gets out 2 halftracks more than his opponent.

If at the end of Turn 6 neither player has exited halftracks, or if both players have exited the same number of halftracks, it is a draw.

A ROUGH NIGHT (CAMPAIGN 1/6)

Front: Normandy
Army: German / US
Date: June 9, 1944
Players: 2

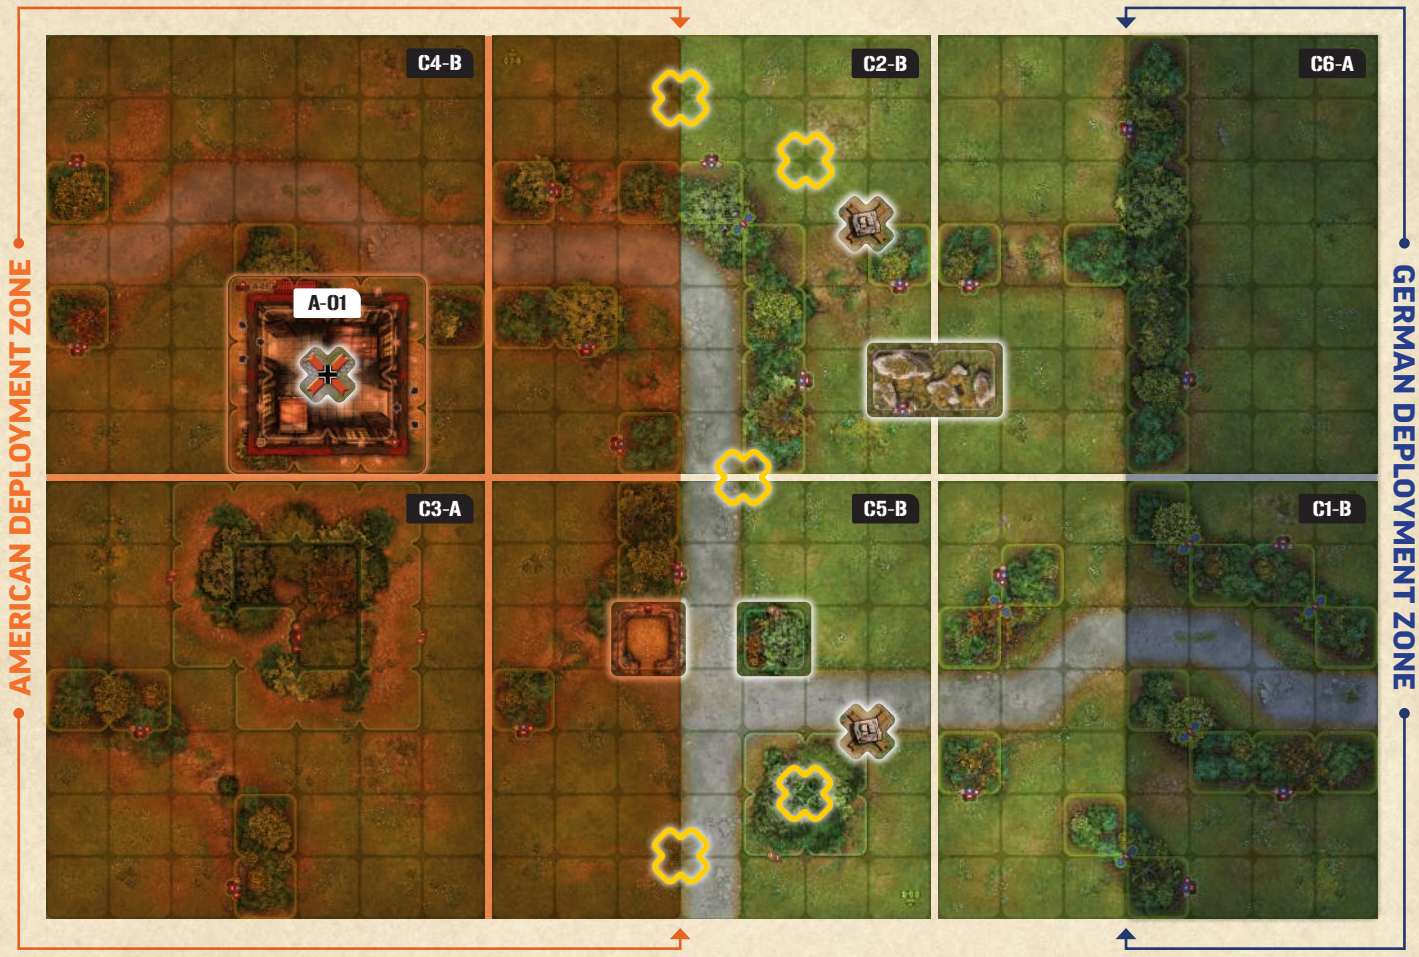

CAMPAIGN

This is the first scenario of a mini-campaign telling the clashes between the Big Red One and the 2.Panzer Division around Caumont-l'Éventé.

Some events, such as the victory of a side, have an influence on the following scenario. Side missions are also given to each player. They are rewarded with medals which bring points at the end of the campaign. On page 26 you will find a chart where you can write down the name of the victorious side for each scenario, in order to determine the winner of the campaign. You can also play each scenario independently by ignoring the campaign paragraphs.

On June 8, the Big Red One begins to enlarge the bridgehead. The 3/16th Infantry is reinforced by C Company of the 745th Tank Battalion of Captain Washbum. The losses are relatively light, the remains of the 352. Infanterie Division being disorganized because of the losses suffered the previous days. June 9, Sainte Anne falls. But while the capture of the village seemed acquired, a large German force approached. The 2. Panzer Division is joining the prom!

RECRUITMENT OF THE ARMIES

SOLO MODE
The AI can play either side. If the AI plays German, Lt.Blean is a priority target.

1ST INFANTRY DIVISION - 235 POINTS

2. PANZER DIVISION - 325 POINTS

PREPARATION

The German player has the Initiative.

Place 1 German Primary Objective.

Place 3 Tactical Bonuses.

CAMPAIGN

The German player takes 2 Secondary Objectives bearing the German cross and 1 Secondary Objective bearing the American star.

- Each player draws 4 Action Cards.
- This game lasts 7 Turns.

- The American player deploys first. He places his officer, Lieutenant Blean, in the house. For the whole game, Blean will not be able to get out of the house unless he has to retreat after losing an assault.
- Then the German player deploys his units.

VICTORY CONDITIONS

The goal for the German player is to control the Primary Objective and eliminate Lieutenant Blean.

WHO TURNED OFF THE LIGHT? (DARK NIGHT):

Maximum range of a Firing Action is 7 squares.

The long range penalty begins at 5 squares.

Aircraft units cannot be activated.

In order to spot a unit concealed in a Terrain Element, you need to be adjacent to it.

A unit can conceal itself in open ground (i.e., not in a Terrain Element) if no enemy has a clear LoS to it within 2 squares.

Increase scattering for Indirect Fire by 2 Interspaces, but the range is unchanged. You may not conduct Direct Fire with the Indirect Fire Special Ability.

EQUITY: As soon as a player collects a Tactical Bonus, the other is automatically won by his opponent.

The game ends at the end of Turn 7.

CAMPAIGN

The German player places, on their neutral side, the 3 Secondary Objectives as he wants, on 3 of the Interspaces indicated by a yellow outline.

- As soon as a Unit of the American player controls one of these Secondary Objectives, he looks to which army it belongs to.
- If it's a German Secondary Objective, nothing happens.
- If this is an American Secondary Objective, The American player has found documents from the German Headquarter. He will be awarded the Silver Star.

SOLO MODE If the AI is playing the Germans, take the 3 Secondary Objectives and place them. By choosing where you place them, you decide on the difficulty you impose on yourself.

- AMERICAN VICTORY:
  The German player does not control the Primary Objective.
- GERMAN VICTORY:
  The German player controls the Primary Objective.

CAMPAIGN

If the German player eliminates Lieutenant Blean, he will be awarded the Eisernes Kreuz.

SCENARIO

CAUMONT-L'ÉVENTÉ (CAMPAIGN 2/6)

Front: Normandy
Army: German / US
Date: June 10, 1944
Players: 2

CAMPAIGN

It's hot in the Normandy countryside. As they advance, the men of the 26th Infantry Regiment are overwhelmed by the rays of the sun, supported by the 745th Tank Battalion, towards the first houses of Caumont. For an hour, the progression is easy. But as the first buildings approached, a cry is heard: "Feuer Frei!". The battle for Caumont begins for real. The Americans rush for the German positions. They have to act quickly if they want to consolidate their positions before the German reinforcements arrive.

BATTLEFIELD AND DEPLOYMENT

PREPARATION

The American player has the Initiative.

Place 3 Secondary Objectives.

CAMPAIGN
Place 1 German Primary Objective.

Place 3 Tactical Bonuses.

- Each player draws 4 Action Cards.
- This game lasts one or two rounds of 5 Turns each.
- The German player deploys first.
- Then the American player deploys his units.

RECRUITMENT OF THE ARMIES

SOLO MODE
The AI can play either side.

1ST INFANTRY DIVISION - 360 POINTS

2. PANZER DIVISION - 255 POINTS

VICTORY CONDITIONS

The American player's goal is to make as much progress as possible in the first round. At the end of the Turn 5, the American player receives a new order from the Headquarter. This order depends on his progression.

SECURE THE AREA

If the American player has at least one Infantry Unit beyond the landmark 3, he is ordered to finish clearing the area and the game ends.

- It's a MAJOR AMERICAN VICTORY.

RUN!

If the American player has no Infantry Unit beyond the landmark 1, he is ordered to flee the area and the game ends.

- It's a MAJOR GERMAN VICTORY.

ONE MORE EFFORT!

If the American player has at least one Infantry Unit between the landmarks 2 and 3, he is ordered to continue the attack.
Start a new 5-turn round

- Place an American Primary Objective in B-01 and C-01.
- Place the 1 marker on the 1 space of the turn chart.
- Place the END marker on the 5 space of the turn chart.

The American player must control at least 1 objective at the end of Turn 5.

- MINOR AMERICAN VICTORY: The American player controls at least one Primary Objective.
- MINOR GERMAN VICTORY: The American player does not control either of the two Primary Objectives.

FALL BACK!

If the American player has at least one Infantry Unit between the landmarks 1 and 2, but none beyond the landmark 2, he is ordered to fall back.
Start a new 5-turn round.

- Place the 1 marker on the 1 space of the turn chart.
- Place the END marker on the 5 space of the turn chart.

The American player must make his units leave by the squares marked by an orange arrow.

SOLO MODE If the AI is playing the Americans, it considers the exit boxes as Primary Objectives.

- MINOR AMERICAN VICTORY: At the end of turn 5, there are no US units left on the board and at least 3 US Infantry Units have successfully exited.
- MINOR GERMAN VICTORY: At the end of turn 5, there is at least one or more US Infantry Unit left on the battlefield.

CAMPAIGN

MINOR AMERICAN VICTORY: In the following scenario, use both GE-A & GE-B Deployment areas. American reinforcements enter on Turn 2.

MAJOR AMERICAN VICTORY: In the following scenario, use the GE-A Deployment area. American reinforcements enter on Turn 2.

MINOR GERMAN VICTORY: In the following scenario, use the GE-A Deployment area. American reinforcements enter on Turn 4.

MAJOR GERMAN VICTORY: In the following scenario, use both GE-A & GE-B Deployment areas. American reinforcements enter on Turn 4.

If at the end of the game, the German player controls his Primary Objective, he will be awarded the Eisernes Kreuz.

LE QUESNAY (CAMPAIGN 3/6)

Front: Normandy
Army: German / US
Date: June 17, 1944
Players: 2

CAMPAIGN

The 2. Panzer Division is still too weak at this date for a counter attack on such a large front. Von Lüttwitz can only launch limited assaults to consolidate his positions. He orders Pz.Gren.Regiment 304 to attack the villages of Le Quesnay and Coulvain, which had been heavily bombed for several days. The weather is cloudy and humid, which denies all allied air support, but American defense appears to be well established. The Germans have to hurry before the Yankees' reinforcements show up.

SCENARIO

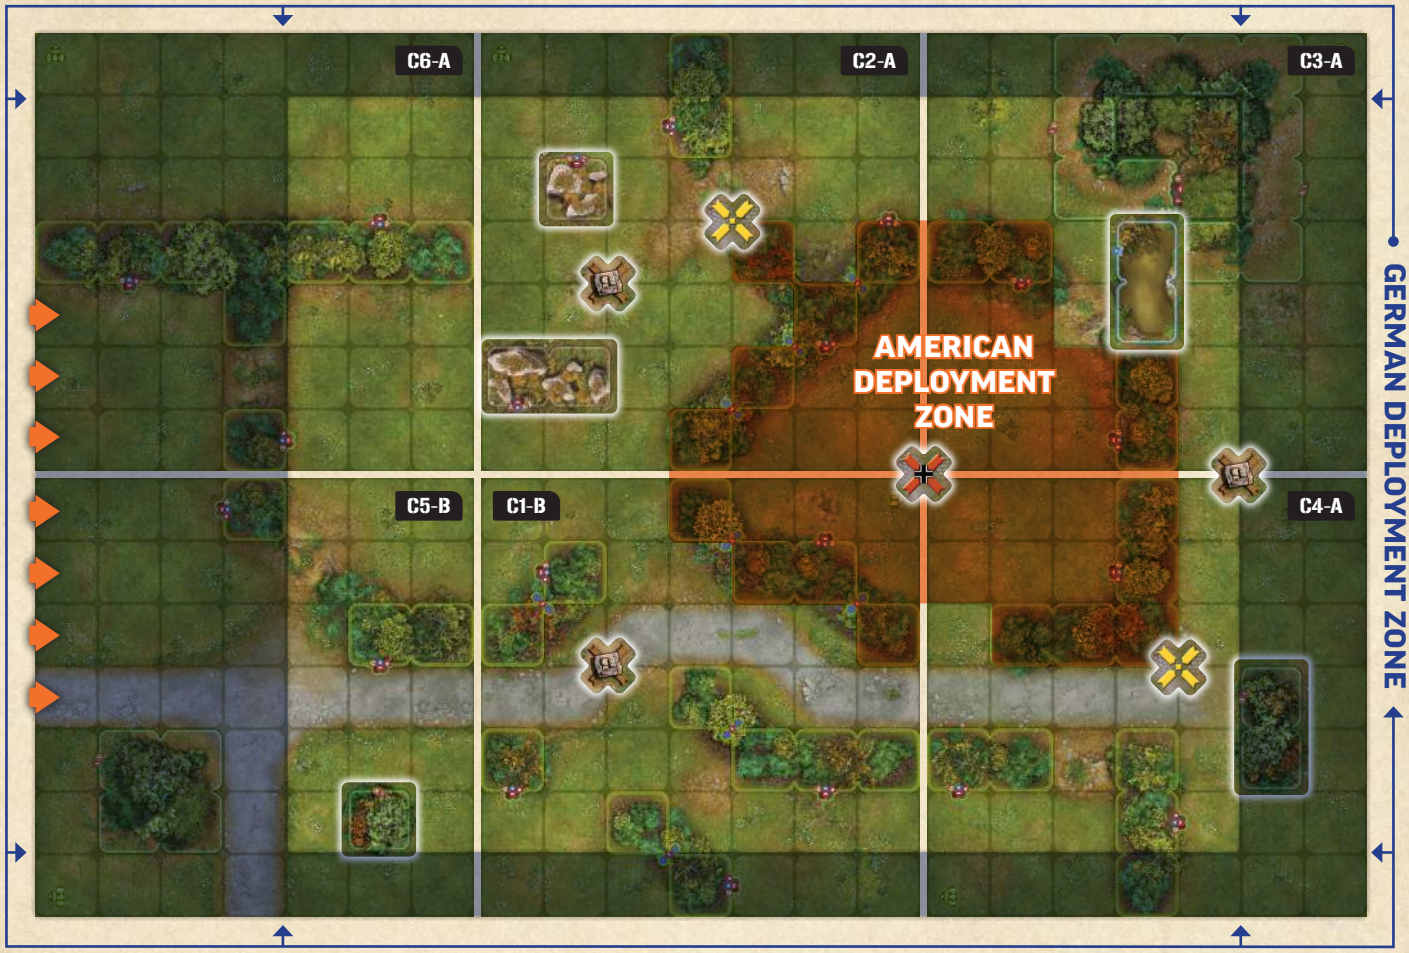

SURROUNDED! (CAMPAIGN 4/6)

Front: Normandy
Army: German / US
Date: June 18, 1944
Players: 2

CAMPAIGN

Four years after one of the most famous radio calls, elements of the 16th Infantry Regiment, sent for reconnaissance in the vicinity of Caumont, found themselves in a bad position, too deep behind enemy lines. They end up being spotted, trying to return to their positions, and are stranded, nailed down by artillery fire. A support unit is sent in emergency to get them out of this trap. On the German side, everything is done to take advantage of the situation. The Panzergrenadiers are deployed to chastise the reckless...

- Each player draws 4 Action Cards.
- This game lasts 8 Turns.
- The American player deploys first. He deploys units from GROUP 1 in his Deployment zone. Units from GROUP 2 are set aside.
- The German player deploys his units in his Deployment zone.

CAMPAIGN

If, in the previous scenario, the American player scored a Victory, Minor or Major, The German player deploys first.

If, in the previous scenario, the German player scored a Victory, Regular or Major, he takes the Radio marker and an explosion Template. He places the Radio marker on one of his units.

The player who controls the Primary Objective at the end of Turn 8, wins the game.

CAMPAIGN

If the German player places an Order Token on a unit in possession of the Radio marker, he may, when activating the unit, place the explosion Template anywhere on the battlefield and roll for scatering. He uses the Combat Values of the Special Ability. If, in the previous scenario, the German player scored a Victory, Regular or Major, he uses the Combat Values of the Special Ability.

If the unit with the Radio marker is Destroyed, the Radio marker is placed in the square and could be picked up by any German Infantry Unit ending its Movement Action in this square.

WINDY AT SEPT-VENTS! (CAMPAIGN 5/6)

Front: Normandy
Army: German / US
Date: June 20, 1944
Players: 2

CAMPAIGN

Sept-Vents (Seven-Winds), the name slams like a storm-whipped pirate banner. Sept-Vents, Caumont-l'Éventé, two towns still swept away by the anger of Aeolus, and the wrath of the Nazi eagle, the wounded beast, but far from dying. A few weeks before the clash between the 15th (Scottish) Infantry Division and the Fallshirmjägers, the soldiers of the Big Red One once again meet those of the 2. Panzer Division. The fight is inevitable. But the area is swampy and the vehicles very quickly get stuck...

Place 1 German Primary Objective and 1 American Primary Objective.

Place 3 Tactical Bonuses.

CAMPAIGN

Place 3 Secondary Objectives.

- Each player draws 4 Action Cards.
- This game lasts 8 Turns.
- The players' units will enter through the squares indicated by the arrows in their color:
  - For The American player.
  - For The German player.
- Heavy Vehicles, can only enter by squares signaled by an arrow with a grey shield, 1 square for the Americans and 2 for the Germans.

Players must control their Primary Objective before the end of Turn 8.

IN DEEPS..!

When a vehicle, Heavy or Light, begins its Movement Action in a square that is neither a Terrain Element nor a Road square, the player controlling it must roll a die. The result corresponds to the number of squares that the vehicle will be able to cover. If this result is greater than or equal to the vehicle's Movement Value, the vehicle's Movement Action is canceled and it receives a Skidding marker. If the Movement Action isn't canceled, the player can add any movement bonuses to the result (without exceeding the vehicle's Movement Value). In this case, the vehicle receives a Skidding marker at the end of its Movement Action.

SOLO MODE Remember that the AI plays its bonuses as soon as possible.

If the vehicle should receive a second Skidding marker, flip it over on its Stuck side. The vehicle won't be able to move anymore!

CAMPAIGN

The player who won the previous scenario may, during a vehicle's Movement Action, spend a Traction Mats marker to ignore this rule.

END The game ends at the end of Turn 8 or at the end of any Supply Phase if a player controls his Primary Objective.

CAMPAIGN

Calm and peace descended on the Caumont front. Armed clashes have given way to a propaganda battle. Leaflets are dropped on enemy lines by both camps. The Germans bomb Americans with pornographic materials which are a big hit among young soldiers. The result is not at all what was expected. Eventually, the capture of Caumont is abandoned by the German general staff, and the 2. Panzer Division is sent in support of the 12. SS-Panzer Division, south of Tilly.
But to get there, they will have to cross the front held by the Big Red One...

CAMPAIGN - ADAPTATION V1 / V2

Front: Normandy
Army: German / US
Date: 09/06/44-30/07/44
Players: 2

During the last days of June, a truce is declared between the Big Red One and the 2. Panzer Division, to allow the Americans to transfer eight German nurses, captured in Cherbourg, to Von Lüttwitz's command staff. This event marks the conclusion of the battle of Caumont-l'Éventé. The city remains in the hands of the Big Red One, which is withdrawn from the front on July 14 to reach for Saint-Lô, where other battles await. From July 16, the 2. Panzer Division is gradually relieved to be attached to the 1. SS-Korps near Caen, where they too will have their share of action. The fighting at Caumont was not the most violent Battle in Normandy, but it is legendary as it saw two of the most iconic divisions of WWII facing off against each other.

 The side having made the highest score wins the campaign.

BOMBING

When the scenario asks you to play an Artillery card (except for Flak 18), roll a dice, divide the result by 2, round up. The result is the number of Templates using the red Indirect Fire Special Ability that you must / can place anywhere on the battlefield. Each Template can scatter.

For the Flak 18, use these Combat Values: +2 +5 +4 +

AIRSTRIKE

When a scenario calls for an Aviation card to be played, the side concerned takes the Thunderbolt or Focke-Wulf Recruitment Tile and can assign it an Order Token. He discards it at the end of the Turn. Destroying the Aviation Unit does not prevent the owning side from reusing the Recruitment Tile if the scenario specifies it. If you don't have an Aviation Unit in your collection, do a Firing Action against any unit on the battlefield, except those placed in a building, using these Combat Values: +4 +3 +2
