Tried to gather some official answers to questions I've had or that I noticed other people have had.

Hopefully this helps others to have an easier time to play the game.

Please post if you have any corrections to the questions or answers!

Didn't always get the links to the specific post to work, in those cases the link goes to the page the answer is on, but you'll need to find the answer on the page.

Recruitment

Q: On the recon squadron recruitment tile there's a icon for the scout (6) ability on the left most option slot. The rulebook mentions that by filling the slot, we unlock the Order or Special Ability, and that we lose it in case the recruitment option is turned over. Who gets the bonuses for the scout ability??
A: The unit that unlocks the slot.
S: http://www.devil-pig-games.com/forum/?action=viewtopic&t=3.2

Q: If we have unlocked an order or special ability by filling in the slot (in the recruitment tile) with an option that cannot die, like grenades. When is the order or special ability lost?
A: You can only unlock special abilities if the thing filling the slot can use the abilities.
S: http://www.devil-pig-games.com/forum/?action=viewtopic&t=3.2

Q: What does the special ability [0] that can be unlocked on a recruitment tile do? (Example US Combat Engineers, Page 4 DDay book)
A: The cost of the option that fills the slot is 0 (its free)

A: No you can't.
S: http://www.devil-pig-games.com/en/forum/?action=viewtopic&t=...

Orders Phase

Q: When placing down the order markers, the rulebook says to do it in the same time. But what should the players do if they wait to see which units the opponent is going to give orders to, before ordering their own?
A: In this case, the player with initiative places their order tokens first.
S: http://www.devil-pig-games.com/forum/?action=viewtopic&t=3.3

Q: Under special orders (Page 6 in the Rulebook V1.1) it says you cannot have more than two special orders. There's a normal limit of 10 orders, but can you have 10 normal orders + 2 special orders?

A: You can have up to 10 normal orders + 2 special orders.
S: http://www.devil-pig-games.com/en/forum/?action=viewtopic&t=...

Q: Do you count bluff orders into the amount of orders (maximum 10)? In other words, can you have 10 normal orders + 2 special orders + 2 bluff orders?
A: Bluff tokens do not count into the maximum allowed orders. This means you can have a total of 14 orders at once.
S: http://www.devil-pig-games.com/forum/?action=viewtopic&t=3.3

Movement

Q: How does the units that take up slightly more than one space but less than two spaces work? Do all units that overlap one space automatically take up two?
A: There are only three types of "markers" that take up one space, the officer size, the infantry size and the "car" size which is just slightly larger than one space. Anything bigger takes up 2 spaces, except some unit that might take up 4 spaces, but they do so clearly. [Hopefully there's an easier way to describe this...]
S: http://www.devil-pig-games.com/en/forum/?action=viewtopic&t=...

A: No.

The infantry unit is able to choose which of the spaces of the vehicle it fires at, as per the rules (Page 9 in the Rulebook V1.1). But what if the LOS is blocked to the other space of the vehicle so that the infantry unit can only fire at the one they are diagonally adjacent to. Which armor value do you use on the vehicle, since the line from the center of the infantry unit to the center of the space of the vehicle goes straight through the corner of the vehicle.
A: [This needs to be checked, since there are "LOS" markings on the vehicle markers, it might work fine.]
S:

Does this mean that to become "concealed" you need to do it during a movement, but you can come out of concealment by firing with the unit?

A: You have to place them into a straight line
S: http://www.devil-pig-games.com/forum/?action=viewtopic&t=995
