SCENARIO 1 - BRIEFING

PATHFINDERS

You need to mark the drop zones in order to assure that the Grand Operation plays out optimally. Just a handful of cream-of-the-crop airborne troops will be sent before the air wave. The more markers that are placed precisely, the more efficient the drops will be.

2- RECRUITMENT OF THE ARMIES

X4

3- PREPARATION

Without looking at them, place 2 Bonus tactic markers.

Remove the following cards from both decks: Weak Point, Precision, Ram, Surprise!, Repairs, all the Artillery and Aviation cards.
Also remove the German card Booby Trap.
Also remove the American cards Don't Stop!, Hit and Run, It Bounced Right Off It.

The American player has initiative.
Place the corresponding marker on space 1 of the turn counter.

The players deploy in their respective deployment zones. The German player deploys first. The American player distributes the Halifane Lights however he likes among his troops.
The Signalers unit carries the Eureka Ground Radar.

Each player draws 4 cards.

4- PLAYING THE GAME

This game lasts 6 turns.
The combat takes place on a dark night.

The American player must place and activate at least two of the three Halifane Lights on the secondary objectives, then send a coded message with the Eureka Ground Radar.

In order to place a Halifane Light, simply stop on a secondary objective space.
In order to activate a Halifane Light, you must have a unit with the Engineer special ability on the same space as the Halifane Light. The unit must activate the light either by using an order or during the Supply Phase, and cannot fire or move. Flip the Halifane Light to its activated side.
A hidden unit that activates a Halifane Light does not reveal itself.
If a unit carrying a Halifane Light or the Eureka Ground Radar is eliminated, it leaves the token on its space. In order to pick it up, simply stop on it.

The game ends if, at the end of a Supply Phase, the Signalers unit that carries the Eureka Ground Radar is in the primary objective space when at least two Halifane Lights have been activated.

5- END OF THE GAME AND VICTORY

American victory: The American player wins the game if he activates the Eureka Ground Radar before the end of turn 6.

SAINTE-MÈRE-ÉGLISE: In Scenario 2, the American player will be able to place the Drop Zones on the blue locations (and not on the red).

German victory: The German player wins the game if the American player has not managed to activate the Eureka Ground Radar before the end of turn 6.

SAINTE-MÈRE-ÉGLISE: In scenario 2, the American player must place the Drop Zones on the red locations (and not on the blue).

REGROUP!

The parachuting has begun and it has not gone so great. The troops are scattered across the Norman countryside. The units now have to regroup in order to march on their objectives.

3- PREPARATION

Without looking at them, place 2 Bonus tactic markers.

Remove the following cards from both decks: Weak Point, Precision, Panzerfaust, Bogged Down, It Bounced Right Off It, Hit and Run, Ram, Don't Stop!, Repairs, Surprise!, all the Artillery and Aviation cards. Also remove the German cards Booby Trap and Return to Sender.

The German player deploys first in his deployment zone. He cannot use the Scout special ability.

The American player has initiative. Place the corresponding marker on space 1 of the turn counter.

Each player draws 4 cards.

4- PLAYING THE GAME

This game lasts 6 turns.
The combat takes place on a dark night.

The American player must get as many troops as possible off the board through the spaces marked with a green arrow.

SAINTE-MÈRE-ÉGLISE :

Depending on the outcome of Scenario 1, you will use either the blue Drop Zones or the red ones.
Outside the campaign, use the red Drop Zones.

Before the Order Phase of the first turn, the American player chooses 6 units. He rolls one die for each of them; the result indicates at which Drop Zone the unit lands. For each one, apply the rules of the Dropped option; however, they do not get the Suppressed marker.
If a unit must land in the pond, it is not eliminated, but will instead be deployed in the following Supply Phase.

The American player will be able to bring the rest of his units into play in the Supply Phase of the first turn.

If Lieutenant Fred Brennan is not yet or is no longer on the battlefield, the American player does not get the two extra Orders he provides.

5- END OF THE GAME AND VICTORY

American victory: The American player wins the game if he gets 6 units off the board before the end of turn 6.

SAINTE-MÈRE-ÉGLISE: In Scenario 5, the American player will be able to bring his reinforcements into play.

German victory: The German player wins the game if the American player has gotten fewer than 6 units off the board at the end of turn 6.

SAINTE-MÈRE-ÉGLISE: In Scenario 5, the American player will not be able to bring his reinforcements into play.

SCENARIO 3 - BRIEFING

PIGEON SHOOTING

While the scattered American paratroopers attempt to regroup, some less lucky ones were dropped directly into Saint-Mère-Église. A burning house lights up the civilians trying to put out the flames under the German soldiers' watch. Quick! The Americans must gather in the church in order to escape a massacre.

WHEN YOU'VE GOTTA GO...

Sainte-Mère-Eglise must fall now. Lieutenant-Colonel Vandy has managed to regroup enough soldiers to launch the assault on the town. He counts on possible reinforcements and on an unknown number of soldiers who had found refuge in the town.

SCENARIO 5 - BRIEFING

LA FIÈRE, PART ONE

Sainte-Mère-Eglise has been captured. Now the outskirts of town must be secured, particularly the road leading to the river Merderay that crosses the flood zones. For that, we will need to take over La Fière, the manor overlooking the bridge. From one side of the river, the men of the 82nd division are rushing in hopes that the scattered 101st who were signaled to be on the other side will show up.

LA FIÈRE, PART TWO

The manor has been captured. The American parachutists take position to ward off a German counterattack. They don't have to wait long. Just after they have prepared their artillery, the first Germans show up on the road with 3 Renault tanks, captured at the beginning of the war. They're going to have to hold out at all costs!
