SCENARIO 3 - BRIEFING

OPERATION BRIGITTE

"Who the hell stuck that on my tanks?" "Sergeant Cullins, chief, it's to better break through the hedges, chief."
The commander looks dubiously at the scrapmetal teeth protruding from the Shermans and Stuarts. "OK, fellas, we're heading South, and those contraptions betteer work!"
"Schnell! Hide, behind the hedge, stretch the defences deep and I want that PAK set up and ready to light up!"
The Major watches as his men, deploying in two rows. If the Americans wants to pass, the're going to have to pay.
With Americans on one side of the fence and Germans on the other, operation Brigitte is on its way.

1- BATTLEFIED AND DEPLOYMENT

2- COMPOSITION OF ARMIES

3- SETUP

Remove all the Artillery and Airstrike cards from both decks.

The US player deploys his units in his deployment zone.
The German player then deploys each regiment in the corresponding deployment zone. He deploys Major Hans Gruber and the troops linked to him in any German deployment zone.

The American player has the initiative.
Thus he deploys first
Place the corresponding marker on space 1 of the turn counter.

Each player draws 4 cards.

4- PLAYING THE GAME

The game lasts 8 turns.

Players must score the most victory points at the end of the game.

Defense in Depth: The German player cannot activate the second defensive line (Units in the Regiment 901 deployment zone) until the American player has passed the first defensive line (Regiment 902 deployment zone). If the first defensive line is not passed at turn 3, the German player can activate the second line in the Supply phase of that turn.

Evacuation: The German player may evacuate units by the orange arrow zone as soon as the second defensive lines have been crossed by an American unit. The evacuated German units do not count as losses for the American player's victory points, but do count as losses for purposes of consequences such as loss of orders, special abilities, etc.).

Pushing Through: The American player may move units off the battlefield at the orange arrow zone at the left of the map. The units count as if they were destroyed (with any possible consequences such as loss of orders, special abilities, etc.) except that the points are scored by the American player rather than the German player.

5- END OF GAME AND VICTORY

To count the points: The German player counts destroyed American units. The American player counts escaped American units as well as destroyed enemy units. However, the US player loses 10 points for each objective not taken by the end of the game.

Precision: 6 terrain tiles, 500 army points, 8 turns. It's a big scenario and the game can last a long time.
