BACK HOME... OR NOT...

Private John Smith's journal - 4th infantry division, 8th regiment / Fox company / Parks platoon.

« Normandy - mid June '44 - I dont know where...
I bet Lieutenant Parks knows... I think... I hope... But us, we don't know... We follow, keep our eyes open ans try not to die...
Three days we've been behind enemy lines... I've lost count of days and nights since D-Day... We try and pinpoint the Jerries, so that the brass can organize the offensive which will break us out of this goddam "bocage". Apparently, we did a good job because the Lieutenant said we're going home at dawn... By home, he means on the right side of the front, at least, which is good enough for me...
Fortunately there are those French who help us... Les gars de Jules, I think they are called... I don't really understand what they're saying... and the Lieutenant, he's not telling us either... They know how to get to places... It's their backyard after all... and they know everyone around here! So we manage to avoid the Jerries and their sympathizers...
Our rucksacks are overflowing! Better than combat rations, lemme tell you that! Anyway, tomorrow morning, we're getting out of dodge... The other guys from the platoon are under Clint's command, they're gonna help us cross the river between us and them... Nothing but damn rivers in this damn country, anyway... Then again, all this rain has gotta go somewhere...
The Lieutenant just gave the order to move out... With a little luck, there will be no Jerries around... But I wouldn't hold my breath... Can't believe we're risking our skin for some papers and maps with the Lieutenant's notes scribled on them... I dont understand why he gave them to me... I just hope it's not a bad luck!!!

1- BATTLEFIELD AND DEPLOYMENT

2- COMPOSITION OF ARMIES

3- SETUP

Remove the following cards from both decks:
Precision, Repairs, and all the Artillery and Airstrike cards.

The German player deploys first his Group 1 in the corresponding deployment zone. The MG Nest is deployed in either the Group 1 deployment zone or in one of the other deployment zones booked for it. But the MG Nest must not be deployed on a road space.
The American player deploys his Group 1 in the corresponding deployment zone.

The American player has the initiative.
Place the corresponding marker on space 1 of the turn counter.

Each player draws 4 cards.

4- PLAYING THE GAME

This game lasts 8 turns.
The player with the highest number of victory points at the end of turn 8 wins.

Supply phase – Tour 2
The US Group 2 arrives at the beginning of the Supply phase by the orange arrows and is able to move normally during this phase.

Supply phase – Tour 4
The German Group 2 arrives at the beginning of the Supply phase by the blue arrow and is able to move and is able to move normally during this phase.

The collected information: The US player secretly chooses a Group 1 unit which is carrying the documents. If the unit is eliminated, its token is removed from the game and it drops the documents on an adjacent interspace of the player's choice.
The unit must get out by a space marked with an orange arrow to complete the victory conditions.

Control of the bridge: The American player controls the bridge if all the following conditions are met:
- There is at least one US Group 2 unit in the German side of the bridge.
- The MG Nest is destroyed.
- The house on the canal and the 2-space defensive position contain no German units.

5- END OF GAME AND VICTORY

US major victory: Americans contest the bridge and the documents containing the information gathered during the mission are brought in the US lines.

US minor victory: The documents containing the collected information gathered during the mission are brought in the US lines.

German minor victory: The documents containing the collected information gathered during the mission are recovered.

German major victory: The documents containing the collected information gathered during the mission are recovered and the majority of infiltrated units are destroyed.
