

Hello my dear mother,

I am writing to you from Normandie, France, where you know I landed three weeks ago. We were not among the first waves that had to face the Germans on the beaches, but we had our share of fighting. Little Mickaël Grinsberg, who I told you about in my last letter, was killed in the bombardment of our camp two days ago.
The veterans have stopped calling us the «blues» now that we have taken part in what reporters are calling «the battle of the hedgerows».

I can't tell you much about the war, we're not allowed to go into detail.
The British camped in front of Caen and faced the Nazi tanks. It seems that there was heavy fighting in the village of Lingèvres last month. A German unit called the Panzer Lehr attacked the Brits. There were heavy losses on both sides but the sons of the King of England drove the enemy back.

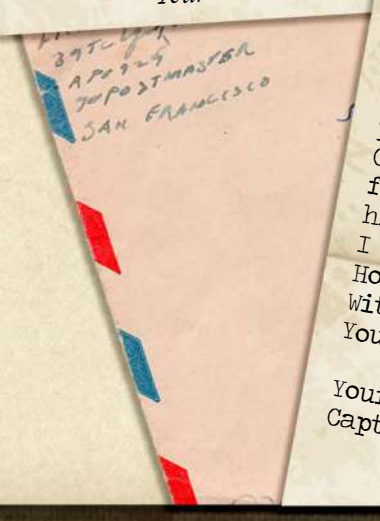

As for us, we are not yet in a position to enter Saint-Lô but it shouldn't be long. Today is the French national holiday and we will parade at Isigny-sur-Mer for the occasion. I hope that everything will go well, that we'll be able to dance and have something to drink.

I wanted to tell you a story. We met Captain Miller the day before yesterday. He's a Ranger officer and a legend here. Right after landing, he saved a poor guy who had lost all his brothers in the war. Since he had been parachuted in, Miller had to go and get him from behind enemy lines. But, he brought him back safe and sound. When my buddies and I met him, Miller was hunting down a Nazi officer, a real scumbag. A bastard named Von Kamptz who was trying to escape with his men. It was the French resistance that gave the information to the leaders. I don't know if he caught him, but I hope he did. I had the chance to speak with him and it was a real honor. This man is a great hero and I hope I can be as brave as he is.
I hope everything is okay in the neighborhood. I miss Brooklyn like I never imagined I could.

Give my love to Lucy and Daddy.
Love you guys.

Your Will

Saint-Lô
July 26th, 1944

Madam,
please find attached the letter from your son, PFC Will Cosentino, who fell in the assault on the town of Saint-Lô. He fought bravely and his sacrifice saved the lives of many of his comrades.
I vouched for him and asked that he be awarded the Medal of Honnor posthumously.
With all due respect, please accept my sincere condolences.
Yours sincerely,

Your dedicated
Captain Miller.

UNITED STATES ARMY

WHO'S AFRAID OF THE BIG BAD WOLF?

Western Front
July 1944

All German soldiers are gray in the dark and little light is shed upon them through the slits of their vehicles' headlight covers. Despite the limited visibility, a convoy is speeding southwestward through the night.

The Wolf and his pack have left their den...

The Office of Strategic Services (OSS) has finally been able to locate the target, thanks to the bits and pieces of information arduously gathered by their agents and the Resistance.

Orders are clear: hunt down the "Wolf" and kill him. Destroy the convoy as well, it may never meet up with the rest of their unit.

Captain Miller's Rangers are the best men for this type of ambush-elimination mission.

Due to their experiences in North-Africa, Sicily and the Italian mainland, they have become most efficient in radical "deratization" through eradication of enemy criminal scum..."eRATication" [sic] as they like to call it.

SPECIAL SCENARIO RULES

Motorized raid

All German infantry units are deployed in vehicles with the Transport special ability. The SS infantry units cannot disembark before the first enemy shot is fired.

Secret German deployment

Put screens on tile C-5B. Deploy all Panzer-Aufklärung units anywhere on this tile: Schwimmwagen, Sd.Kfz 222, Sd.Kfz 250/1, and the Officer (Müller), Scout (x2) and MG-Scout (all transported). Remove the screens after the Allied troops have been deployed.

Clouds across the moon

Start the game with Dark Night conditions. After every Turn played in these circumstances, the player with Initiative rolls 1 die, before the Order Phase of the following Turn.

On a result of 5 or 6, clouds no longer shroud the moon and Clear Night conditions apply until the end of Turn 6.

The sun rises at the start of Turn 7, use daylight rules until the end of the game.

Reveal spotted concealed units anytime visibility improves.

Scenario Requirements

Core Box: Heroes of Normandie

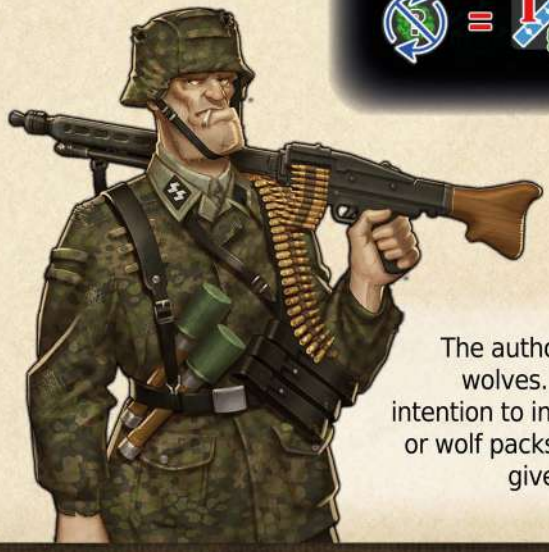

Expansions: Sainte-Mère-Eglise, Carentan

Army Boxes: American, German

Punchboards: Miller's Rangers, Kelly's Heroes, GE 21. Panzer-Division, SS-Panzergrenadiere

Devil Pig News: #6

Terrain Pack: Battleground Set #1

The authors have tremendous respect for wolves. By no means did they have any intention to insult or degrade real lone wolves or wolf packs when they chose the sobriquet given to the villains in this scenario.

RECRUITMENT OF THE ARMIES

Major Müller, your mission is to escort OberSturmbannführer Von Kamptz and his murderous sons of... of... erm... the Reich... marvelous sons of the Reich! The convoy leaves tonight to avoid aerial attacks. Your detachment must clear the way and secure the road. Don't let your guard down, the Resistance is quite stalwart in these parts. Be swift and stout.

Code Name: "Wolfhund"

"WOLFHUND"

Unlike Von Kamptz and the SS-Panzergrenadiere units, the Panzer-Aufklärung troops do not benefit from the Bloodthirsty option.

Panzer-Aufklärung: Remove Sd.Kfz 250/10 from the game. Replace it with Sd.Kfz 222.

The Hitlerjugend card cannot be used to bring Von Kamptz back into play after his elimination.

Captain Miller, you've been informed about your mission. I must emphasize that these orders come straight from High Command just so you understand this task's level of importance. Intercept and destroy this convoy. Do not let Von Kamptz escape and make sure he does not survive. It is imperative that Von Kamptz is eliminated. Go brief your men, Captain. Dismissed!

Code Name: "Little Red Riding Hood"

"LITTLE RED RIDING HOOD"

RANGERS

The gear option Offensive Grenade is an item from the Shadows over Normandie core box. If you do not have this box, use regular grenade tokens but apply the characteristics shown here:

Every unit, including the AT Gun, can benefit from the Veteran option.

The options Gears and Offensive Grenade cannot be used by the AT Gun but are available to all Ranger units, including the Sergeant.

BATTLEFIELD

PREPARATION

The German player has the Initiative and deploys first (see Special Scenario Rules).

The US player deploys next.

Turn 1: All SS-Panzergrenadiere units and Von Kamptz enter in the northeast corner, during the Activation Phase or the Supply Phase.

Each player draws 4 Action Cards.

The game lasts for 7 Turns.

Check: Clouds across the moon for weather conditions.

VICTORY CONDITIONS

Major Victory

- The Germans win if Von Kamptz escapes to the southwest before the end of Turn 7, by exiting the map through any squares denoted by an arrow on tile C-5B.
- The Americans win if they kill Von Kamptz before the end of Turn 7.

Minor Victory

Players count their Victory Points to determine the winner at the end of Turn 7, if Von Kamptz survived but did not escape whilst all the German vehicles with the Transport special ability are destroyed.

Draw

The game is a draw if Von Kamptz survived but did not escape whilst at least 1 undestroyed German vehicle with the Transport special ability remains on the map at the end of Turn 7.
